REMEMBER PROMISE MAYOR ROBINSON URGES PEOPLE

Don't Forget What You Told Boys When They Entered War, Says Official

By SPENCER ROBINSON
Mayor of City of Glendale
Glendale is proud to celebrate today the third anniversary of the Armistice.
Can we ever forget that day in 1918 when we were told that the war was over? Can we ever forget the excitement; the hilarity; the gladness?
This is a day for rejoicing!
It is also a day for sadness.
More, it is an occasion for thoughtful contemplation.
It is no more than right that we should set aside one day in the year for reflection upon international problems. Let us forget our own petty affairs for a few moments and consider the larger problems of humanity.
The growth of Glendale and its abnormal prosperity are due in large measure to the co-operation of its citizens. They are all boosters. We believe in our town just the same as we believe in our state and in our nation.

Love of Country
Patriotism is a noble instinct. It is the "booster spirit" applied in a larger sense. Without it no nation can survive. Let us preserve the love of our country in our hearts; let us boost for her; let us be willing to fight for her, if necessary—but let us pray to God that we will never have to participate in another war.
The world is a mighty small place after all—only a few million square miles. It is much too small for war; and its inhabitants have too much in common to fight. Will the time never come when we will realize that we are civilized?
My hat is off to the American Legion. Within its ranks are included the statesmen of the future. The time is not far distant when the destiny of this nation will be entirely in their hands. We know what mettle they showed the enemy; we can safely trust this country in their keeping.
It is most fitting that we should honor upon this occasion the soldiers and sailors who offered their services

Member Glendale Post American Legion
From a group of approximately twenty-five former service men to a membership of almost 300, the Glendale post, No. 127, of the American Legion has, since its organization two years ago, become one of the "lives" and most aggressive posts in California. In size it stands fourth in the Ninth Congressional district, being surpassed only by Pasadena, Long Beach and Pomona.
The present organization was established in September, 1919, when the members of the League of American Defenders decided to affiliate themselves with the national former service men's association which had just been organized in the east. Fol-

PATRIOTIC PARADE CHEERED BY CROWDS; VETERANS OF THREE WARS ARE IN LINE OF MARCH

Glendale Holds Great Armistice Day Celebration
With Martial Music, Representatives of Various Organizations and Well Decorated Floats

TWENTY THOUSAND voices acclaimed the pageant of Armistice day as it passed review in the downtown streets of Glendale at 11 o'clock today—an epochal parade marking a patriotic nation now in peacetime pursuits.

As Old Glory, with its attendant guards, drew into sight with the veterans of three and more wars following in its train one long round of cheering echoed from the motorcars banked along Brand boulevard, Broadway and Central avenue.

Then, too, there was the civic, fraternal, school and club sections which made their impress on the minds of young and old and recalled the days when the world was at war with the now deposed despot.

More than 100 former service men in the uniforms of the army, navy and marine corps and others in civilian clothes were in the line of march while "Glendale's own" Fifth company, National guards, in their new winter issue, made an impressive appearance.

Particularly appealing was the representation made by the Grand Army of the Republic, the venerable veterans being as conspicuous as ever in recalling the days of '61. The W. R. C., Spanish American war veterans and other patriotic orders were in the long line. The Boy Scouts, too, were present in force.

The martial music of three bands added to the enthusiasm and many beautifully decorated floats lent color to the procession. One of the most interesting of the latter was the parent-teachers' "Jolly Tars" and the Glendale high school's entry with Glendale's greatest asset—the boys and girls in white costumes.

Queen Rides in State
Miss Viola Yorba, queen of the carnival, rode in state on a regal float of blue and gold—the American legion colors. She was attended by other queen contestants. Decorated motor cars were many, the Chamber of Commerce having a long line of machines bearing its banners.

A word of praise needs to be given Dr. W. Nicoles, grand marshal, and his aides, who had so organized their divisions that they swung into line a few minutes after 10 o'clock. Columns could be used in telling of the wonderful array, but the following resume of the different divisions will indicate the comprehensiveness of the parade.

Queen's Barge
The Queen's barge was driven by Mrs. G. E. Clayton, accompanied by Mrs. E. W. Hayward. Queen Viola, gowned in white, and her raven black tresses set off by a silver crown, occupied the rear seat with her two maids of honor, Miss Dorothy Morton and Mrs. Warren Roberts.

Flags and bunting predominated in the decorations for the automobiles representing the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, American War Mothers, G. A. R.

Miss Alma Pardon and Joseph Walsh Wedded Last Night

The wedding of Miss Alma Pardon, daughter of N. H. Pardon of 606 North Maryland avenue, and Joseph Walsh, formerly of Halifax, Canada, took place at 8 o'clock last night, Thursday, November 10, 1921, at the home of the bride. The rooms were artistically decorated with bouquets of vari-colored chrysanthemums.
The bridal party, led by Miss Margaret Pardon, sister of the bride and who acted as bridesmaid, entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Miss Margaret Pardon was attired in brown taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas. She was followed by her sister, who was given in marriage by her father. The bride wore a gown of blue taffeta and cream-colored organdie and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas. David Buck of Glendale acted as best man. The ring ceremony was used, Reverend W. E. Edmonds officiating. Only immediate relatives of the young couple were present.

Following the wedding ceremony a sumptuous banquet was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Walsh departed for San Diego on their honeymoon. They will be at home to their friends after December 1 at 606 North Maryland avenue, Glendale.
Mrs. Walsh has been a resident of Glendale for about twelve years and is a graduate of Glendale Union high school. She is a member of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Walsh was the honor guest at a number of social affairs and showers given for her before her marriage and has received a beautiful array of wedding gifts.

Mrs. J. B. Brown in Letter Tells About Honoring Hero Dead

Mrs. J. B. Brown, 408 North Maryland avenue, who during the past four months has been visiting with her son, Walter Lyman Brown, who is chief director of the American relief in Europe, has written a very interesting letter to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Howard L. Brown, 406 North Maryland avenue, telling of the impressive services held at Westminster Abbey on October 17, the occasion being the placing of the American Congressional Medal of Honor upon the tomb of an unknown warrior.

Mrs. Brown was one of those for whom seats were reserved on that occasion, and in her letter she states having heard many of the world leaders speak at the ceremony, the dignitaries including General Pershing, the Duke of Connaught, who spoke for King George, Lloyd George, Ambassador Harvey, Hon. Winston Churchill and the Dean of Westminster Abbey.

The ceremony was most impressive, Mrs. Brown writes, and the presence of five hundred American soldiers brought direct from the Rhine for the occasion, was thrilling to every American present. The program was concluded by singing a stanza each of "God Save the King" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee."
Letters from Mrs. Brown are received weekly at the home of her son here and each contains many interesting features regarding the relief work that is now going on in Europe, the American relief being directed through the offices of her son, Walter Lyman Brown, in London. At present much is being done, she states, to feed the hungry children of Europe and the people of Russia. A portion of one of her letters was devoted to depicting the great ovation given to the relief workers in Alsace-Lorraine, and the great work that is being done in caring for the hungry children of other sections of France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Armenia.

The relief work, Mrs. Brown states, is progressing satisfactorily and is gaining from month to month.

ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES

Today's World News In Brief

(By International News Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Frank Tomasky, member of the firm of Tomasky Brothers, men's furnishings, was shot and killed today in a battle with two bandits in the Tomasky store. The bandits escaped without loot.

ROME, Nov. 11.—Two persons were killed and a number wounded in conflicts between Fascisti and Communists today. Ten thousand Fascisti paraded. The general strike continued and was spreading rapidly. Railway and public utility workers have been joined by two mechanical staffs of the newspapers.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—One man was so seriously wounded that he may die and many others narrowly escaped death today as the result of a riot between white and black employees of a circus, staged aboard a circus train as it was traveling between this city and Colton. More than 100 shots were fired in the darkened cars.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Action on Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain's application for a writ of mandamus to compel Superior Judge Reeve to grant her an immediate trial or dismiss the indictment charging her with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy will be taken tomorrow by the district court of appeal, it was stated today.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"No useful purpose can be served by continuing the formal negotiations until certain of the government's proposals are withdrawn," Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, declared today in reply to the compromise proposals submitted to the Ulster cabinet by the British premier in the latest effort to reach a basis for agreement on the Irish question.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Official denial of reports that the German-American treaty was lost in transit between Washington and Berlin was issued by the foreign office today. The American state department sent the ratified treaty by mail for exchange of ratifications. Illness of American Commissioner Dressel was given as the only reason for delay in exchange of ratifications.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Woodrow Wilson, at whose command 2,000,000 sons of America sprang forth to battle, today rendered honor to one of those warriors who returned like the crusader of old, not with his shield, but upon it. Woodrow Wilson, whose name three years ago was on the lips of the civilized world, today came forward from his seclusion to pay humble tribute to a fallen hero whose name the world shall never know. Ending his voluntary retirement to his S street home, Mr. Wilson, in endeavoring to do honor to the unidentified American soldier, found himself the recipient of one of the most impressive tributes in the history of the nation. From the moment he left the capitol with Mrs. Wilson at his side, the progress of his carriage along Pennsylvania avenue was marked by spontaneous ovation. Told that he alone in all the great cavalcade received an ovation, the former president said: "It was rather embarrassing to me, because it came in a funeral procession."

Read Poetry! Says This Professor at Teachers' Institute

"We ought to read poetry in our homes," declared Prof. L. E. Bassett of the English department of Stanford university yesterday in the high school auditorium at a session of local institute. "It is one of the most enjoyable of pastimes and one of the most profitable enjoyments."

"Poetry is akin to music. As we must hear music to enjoy it, so we must hear poetry to get its full beauty. Good poetry has rhythm like music and does not proceed mechanically. If you do not get the rhythm, you do not get the force. You can't see the rhythm; you must hear it."

Poetry is made up of a series of musical sounds. Like music, it has pitch and key. It is pitched to the key the mode requires. I believe that, if we could hear more poetry read, we would enjoy it more and when we did not have music available we could turn to it."

"If you are not living in the lives and hearts of the boys and girls around here, you are failing in your work," declared W. J. Cagney, superintendent of schools in Antelope valley. "I believe that children are filled with possibilities; I believe that they are worth something. We must give them a chance. Children generally can learn anything that you can teach them. We are not concerned so much with the subject as in the child."

Mr. Cagney said that he hoped to develop the best rural schools in California in his district. His audience inferred that he is quite a "California booster."

The office of the county superintendent of schools was represented by H. S. Unjohn. He appealed to those present to take their work seriously, try to keep pace with its development and to make themselves worthy of recognition as professional folk.

The meeting closed with a social hour during which tea was served.

The musical program of the afternoon was furnished by grammar school pupils. Eugene Kille and Leslie Tronsier, violinists, and Nathan Finch, cornetist, played several operatic selections. "The Melody in F" was played as a cornet solo, also. First grade pupils of the Colorado school sang a group of songs under the direction of Miss Elsa Breneman, supervisor of music. In the chorus of tiny tots were: Gabriel Felix, Robert Fisher, William Hunter, James King, Robert Stone, Hazel Beach, Janet Egin, Pauline Gray, Louise Parker, Bellevernon Peck, Aileen Rooney, William Berg, Virgil Burson, Burton Larson, Doris Crosson, Margaret Dotson, Helen Hick, Betty Halliwell, Jane Leighton, Barbara Larson, Georgia Ostrander, Altha Pierce, Mildred Pelley, Constance Steelman, Louise Torrey and Jeannette Wittler.

NATION PAYS UNKNOWN SOLDIER MIGHTY AND MAJESTIC TRIBUTE

Most Impressive Services, in Which Leading Men of United States Participate, Are Held Today

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A tribute more mighty and more majestic than was ever accorded any citizen of the republic, whatever his rank or station, was paid by a grateful nation today to its unknown war dead.

While the nation stood silent in its reverence, here in Washington, they prepared a kingly burial for a modest patriot who gave his all that the republic might survive.

From beneath the great white dome of the capitol, where he lay all of yesterday, receiving the reverent homage of thousands, the body of this unknown American soldier was taken this morning almost before the chill November sun had straggled up through the autumnal haze.

Living heroes—men who have won their medals of honor on bloody fields—bore him tenderly from the flower-drenched rotunda to a simple army caisson for the final journey to Arlington, the great repository of the nation's honored dead.

The light was not yet full and strong when the dignitaries of the government gathered about the bier of this always nameless patriot in the capitol. Already the streets of the capital were sounding to the tread of stamping horses and the rumble of moving artillery and great crowds lined the curbs on both sides.

First came the body bearers, Medal of Honor men—all—Sergeant Taylor of the Cavalry; Sergeant Radza of the Artillery; Sergeant Woodfill of the Infantry; Sergeant Dell of the Field Artillery; Chief Water Tender O'Connor of the Navy; Sergeant Janson of the Marine; Chief Torpedo Man Delaney of the Navy, and Sergeant Saunders of the Army Engineers.

Honorary Pallbearers
About them stood the honorary pallbearers, high ranking officers of the army and the navy, their stars and trappings of rank scarcely discernible in the dimly-lit rotunda. Admiral Hugh Rodman, who commanded the destroyer fleet with the British during the war; Major-General Charles Morton, Rear-Admiral Henry R. Wilson, Rear-Admiral Plunkett, Major-General W. C. Neville, Major-General Shanks, Major-General W. G. Haan, Major-General Rickards, Major-General J. G. Harbord, Major-General Clarence T. Menoher and Major-General John F. O'Ryan of New York fame.
Reverently they watched as the

Notable Assembly
Out in the capitol grounds were gathered a notable assembly—President of the United States, the Vice-President, members of the Senate and of the House, and here and there gleamed the brilliancy of a foreign uniform.
Across the deathly stillness of the early morning came sweet and true the ever-beautiful strains of "Nearer My God to Thee." With measured and steady step—for the burden they bore was slight—the body bearers, flanked on each side by the Generals and Admirals, moved down the high steps of the capitol to the simple caisson that waited below.
The ranks of waiting soldiers snapped into salute and as the caisson was placed on the caisson, the sun, which had been struggling up through the clouds, suddenly broke forth, flooding the wide spaces of the plaza with its radiant waves.
The silence which had settled over the plaza as the strains of the hymn floated away was then shattered by the hark of military commands and the cadenced tramp of troops moving into position.
Senate Meets Early
The dignified senate met today at the earliest hour of its history. While the capitol was still shrouded with the gloom of early morning, the Senators, frock-coated and silk-hatted, met in formal session in the chamber. There was a brief prayer from the Senate Chaplain and then

LOCAL LEGION POST RANKS FOURTH IN NINTH DISTRICT

Starts With 25 Members and Now Has Nearly 300 on Rolls; Brief History

Following is a list of the officers of the League of American Defenders, which came into existence at a specially called meeting at the local Elks' club on April 18, 1919: Dru Nicles, commander; J. F. McBryde, adjutant; H. M. McGillis, personnel adjutant; H. A. McElroy, quartermaster; Dwight Stephenson, secretary; Richardson D. White, treasurer; Jesse Flower, sergeant-at-arms.

Charter Is Granted

The new organization, which was granted a charter and given the number 127 by the national headquarters in Indianapolis, immediately leased the entire second floor of the then Bank of Glendale branch building on North Brand boulevard and fitted it up with several hundred dollars' worth of furniture. At that time the boys were returning from army or navy service every day, and within a month the membership had reached the century mark.

The following members were selected to guide the destinies of the baby post for the remaining three months of the year: Dru W. Nicles, commander; Robert Plume, first vice commander; Gordon A. Clayton, second vice commander; Carlton West, adjutant; Joe Wilson, treasurer; Al Bullis, sergeant-at-arms; Richardson D. White, historian.

The foregoing list of officers were retained for the year 1920, with the exception of Gordon Clayton, who was replaced by Jesse Flower, Richardson D. White, whose office as historian was dropped from the post and Carlton West, his place being taken by J. F. McBryde. The executive committee, which held office throughout the year, consisted of all officers in addition to the following: W. B. Kelly, Gordon A. Clayton, Dr. H. V. Brown and Dwight Stephenson.

Much Accomplished

The year 1920 was a full one for the local organization, in business, charitable and social accomplishments, a number of "big" things being put over during that period. Among the most important actions taken by the post during the first part of its existence were the giving of aid to local former service men and investigations concerning treatment being given disabled veterans in this vicinity.

The legionnaires also had charge of the public ceremonies in the city on Memorial day and Armistice day, both of which were appropriately celebrated by well attended crowds.

A special honor was conferred on Glendale post in 1920 when James F. McBryde, who was at that time adjutant of the organization, was chosen from a field of a dozen candidates as the delegate from the Ninth Congressional district of California at the second annual national convention of the American legion, which was held in Cleveland during the last week of September. Mr. McBryde fulfilled his duties at the convention perfectly, his actions receiving special favorable mention in numerous reports of the session.

At State Convention

The first state convention to be held in California took place in August, 1920, at San Diego, and was attended by Legionnaires from all parts of the state. The Glendale delegates were Dru Nicles, J. F. McBryde, Gordon Clayton, Vincent Salmacia, W. Jones and Smith MacMullin.

The year 1921 was ushered in with the following list of officers in charge of the post: Emil Kiefer, commander; Gerald Delgado, first vice commander; Gordon A. Clayton, second vice commander; Harry Bracken, adjutant; Jesse Flower, treasurer; J. F. McBryde, chaplain; Dru W. Nicles, sergeant-at-arms. At the beginning of the summer the adjutant's chair became vacant, due to the resignation of Harry Bracken, his place being taken by J. F. McBryde, who held the office during the previous year. Chalmers Day was appointed chaplain.

Headquarters Moved

About the first of February of this year the post's headquarters were moved to the present location on East Broadway, the move being made necessary on account of the remodeling of the Brand boulevard building. Here the organization now occupies the entire second floor which is divided into a large meeting room and dance room, club rooms, lavatories and living quarters for the house man.

The present executive committee consists of the officers and the following members: W. B. Kelly, Dr. Gerhard Kaemmerling, Dr. H. V. Brown, Richardson D. White and Joe Wilson.

This year's state convention was held at Yosemite and was attended by the following delegates from the local post: Emil Kiefer, J. F. McBryde, Vincent Salmacia, Al Moniot and J. A. Nowell.

C. of C. Nominations Made for Directorate

In the Chamber of Commerce primary election which closed at 5 o'clock last night the following members were nominated for the six openings on the board of directors to be voted upon later:

D. L. Gregg, R. L. Kent, Daniel Campbell, C. D. Lusby, Peter L. Ferry, Owen Emery, J. A. Newton, A. R. Eastman, S. C. Packer, C. W. Ingledue, Mrs. M. L. Light and C. E. Kimlin.

It will be noted that practically all of the present directors are endorsed to retain their position.

Don't Forget What You Told Boys When They Entered War, Says Official

In the late war. We all know how eagerly they went to the training camps; how ardently they hastened to the front; how valiantly they fought on land and sea.

Who will forget their homecoming?

And the boys who will never come home—let us pay tribute to those who paid the supreme sacrifice. Only the gold star mothers and fathers can know of the real anguish of war. The glamor of battle is over; its martial strains are silenced; its uniforms have been packed away—but still the memory of the day when "Johnny marched away" will linger forever in the hearts of many.

Let us not forget our responsibilities towards our soldiers both living and dead.

Material Rewards

Remember they went to France for the "Democracy of the World; for the "War That Would End War; for the "Sake of Humanity."

Can we afford to forget?

Justice demands that we should recompense them in a material way for their sacrifice—as far as possible; the national honor demands that we should respect the pledges made to them when they flocked to the recruiting offices.

This is a time of rejoicing; it is also an hour for prayer.

All eyes are turned to Washington and the disarmament conference. At its sessions may be settled the destiny of the world. At its conference may be decided the progression or retrogression of the human race.

Let us be willing to fight for our national honor—but let us hope it may never again be necessary.

U. S.-FRANCE PACT WELCOME, ASSERTS GERMAN BANKER

Nothing Would Please People Better, Is Statement of Prominent Financier

By S. D. WEYER

Written for International News Service Copyright, 1921, International News Service

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Germany welcomes any arrangement between America and France by which the United States guarantees the fullest help to France in the event of an attack against France by Germany. Arthur Von Gwinner, head of the Great Deutsche bank, told the International News Service, in an exclusive interview. Herr Von Gwinner is one of the foremost financiers in central Europe.

"Nothing would please us better than if the United States would give iron-clad guarantees to France," said Herr Von Gwinner. "Let America tell France she will protect her with all might against any German attack. But then make France withdraw her troops from Germany, for there would be no further need of them."

"Seed of Bitterness" "This would not cost America a single penny and would be an enormous step in the pacification and stabilization of Europe. It would take the grip from our throat and give us a breathing spell. It would remove the seed of bitterness and hatred that is breeding a future war—namely the presence of black troops on the Rhine."

"France is grinding her heel in the face of the vanquished foe. In the meanwhile we are tottering towards ruin and will surely drag France along. The whole of European civilization faces extinction. Does not France realize that she is destroying herself by destroying us?"

"Something must be done at once towards economic rescue in central Europe. Every child knows that the only real remedy is revision of the treaty of Versailles but that cannot be done overnight."

Third Leg Is Gone

"The economic world structure before the war resembled a three-legged table, the legs being the United States, England and Germany. The third leg has been knocked out and what is going to happen to this table?"

"Half measures will not do. You have got to replace that third leg and do it quickly. No patchwork will do. The quick fall in the value of the mark is the handwriting on Germany's throat. That grip must be relaxed or we choke and our death means the collapse of Europe. We do not ask charity."

"Whatever the economic masters of the world do to help us they do at the same time to help themselves. Why cannot they see this?"

FIVE HUNDRED MASSACRED

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Five hundred native gendarmes and officers were massacred by Kurds, following occupation of the town of Sujbulak, according to a dispatch from Allahabad, British India.

CHILDREN SNATCHED FROM STARVATION BY AMERICAN JEWISH RELIEF WORKERS REGAIN HEALTH IN GARDENS

Are you tired of looking at pictures of starving children overseas?

Then rest your eyes on these happy, healthy girls and boys working in a school garden just outside of Grodno. They represent a part of the salvage.

When the agents of the American Jewish Relief committee found them they were suffering from malnutrition, incipient tuberculosis and other diseases incident to starvation. The relief workers took them out in the country, fed them and gave them a chance for life.

But they are only a few of the lucky ones. The soup lines are still forming. Thousands died before help could reach them. The American Jewish Relief committee since it began its work, away back in 1915, before America even got into the war, has sent $47,000,000 for the relief of Europe. Now its workers report that the need exists for $14,000,000 more. That is not the most that can be used. It represents rather the least sum that can be asked if the program of absolute necessary relief is to be continued.

Towns and villages where typhus is raging because the war destroyed their water and sewerage systems are being aided in re-establishing at least a minimal sanitary service. Bath houses are being rebuilt and delousing stations and sanitary laundries opened so the people can escape from the filth and squalor which not only imperils their own existence but forms a breeding place for epidemics that may easily overlap national boundaries and sweep the world.

The contributions made by Americans are being supplemented by generous gifts from European sources. The countries aided are slowly recuperating, and as they do they take over the maintenance and operation of the institutions established by American gifts. Much remains to be done. Russia with its millions of Jews, many of whom are even now facing starvation, is for the first time open to American relief. War orphans must be cared for and child welfare work extended.

Louis Marshall of New York is chairman of the American Jewish Relief committee, whose headquarters are at 103 Park avenue, New York. Associated with him in the work of the committee are such men as Dr. Cyrus Adler of Philadelphia, Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, Felix M. Warburg, Henry Morgenthau, Nathan Straus of New York, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York. The work of organizing the country for the fund-raising appeal has been entrusted to David A. Brown of Detroit, who has dropped his personal business affairs and will make his home in New York until the task is accomplished.

Rules for Tournery of Shoe Pitchers Are Now Announced

Entry blanks and rules governing the different games to be played here in the State Horseshoe Pitchers' tournament on the high school grounds, November 25 and 26, have been received from Secretary George E. Krimball of Long Beach. It is announced by W. H. Nicles, 322 East Fairview avenue, and those who will represent Glendale in the tournament must register with Mr. Nicles before the 21st of the month.

According to the classification of contests for the tournament there will be three divisions. Entries for division No. 1 cannot compete in division No. 2, and vice versa, but any one may enter division No. 3, says Mr. Nicles. Four prizes will be given in each of the first two divisions and three in the third division.

National Association rules will govern at the tournament. Every player must be on the grounds when his division is called. Following are the three divisions: Division One—Fifty point walking games, the four highest in number of games won to receive prizes. Every player entered plays every other one entered in the Division One games.

Division Two—Each one entered plays every other player in the division one series of either three or five games of twenty-one points each. The four highest in points of total games played to be the prize winners.

Division Three—Each man entered to pitch one series of either three or five games of fifty or seventy-five shoes to be pitched in one game. (For example, three games of fifty shoes would be 150). The three highest in total number of ringers made to be prize winners.

All ties are to be pitched off. In case of a very large registration in any division the elimination plan will be adopted, otherwise the rotation plan will prevail. All rules subject to changes if circumstances at the beginning of the tournament demand.

Teddy Roosevelt's Bodyguard Visiting Friends in Glendale

William H. Hartman of La Crescenta, who was a lieutenant on the New York police force when Roosevelt was police commissioner, a member of the Rough Riders, and Roosevelt's body guard during the colonel's administration, accompanying the famous hunter on his expedition in Africa, is calling on friends here at the Circle Real Estate company, 120 North Brand boulevard. Mr. Hartman is convalescing from a remarkable operation in Los Angeles necessitated by a wound received when he was a Rough Rider.

The operation was performed by Dr. Clarence Moore and Dr. Dillingham, the latter from the Mayo Bros. hospital at Rochester, Minnesota, and Mr. Hartman states that his recovery is regarded as one case out of a thousand.

Mr. Hartman's experiences while associated with President Roosevelt would fill a good sized book. During President Taft's administration he was consul in Mexico.

After seeing so much of the world, Mr. Hartman states that Glendale looks well to him, and he is enthusiastic over this section of California.

TIMBER SUPPLY OF U. S. RAPIDLY DIMINISHES

Forest Lands Must Not Lie Idle, Says W. B. Greeley, Department Chief

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—

"The United States produces more than half of the entire lumber cut of the world," says Col. W. B. Greeley, Chief of the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, "and uses 95 per cent of that amount right here at home. The exhaustion of our timber supply is coming about, not because we have used our forests freely, but because we have failed to use our timber-growing land. The problem in a nutshell is the enormous area of forest land which has been so logged and burned that it is producing little or nothing. We have more than 80,000,000 acres of area greater than all the forests of France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal, which have been denuded to the point of absolute idleness so far as production of any timber of commercial value is concerned. We have other enormous areas of cut-over land now growing a fraction of the amount of timber which they might produce. And we are adding to these areas of idle or largely idle land from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 acres every year, as destructive logging and still more destructive burning progress."

Consequences are Grave. "This situation," the Forester points out, "can not long continue without grave consequences. If we are to remain a nation of wood users, we must become a nation of wood growers. By some means or other we must see to it that forest lands not needed for agriculture are not allowed to lie idle, but are kept at work growing timber."

"Where Americans need more forests," states Col. Greeley, "is largely on these 80,000,000 timber-denuded acres which could be made productive again with proper attention and protection against fires." Some of the chief reasons why these forests are needed are as follows: What Industry Demands. Our manufacturing centers are drawing at an enormous rate upon our timber supply—from two to four times as fast per capita as the country at large. Our railroads require 125,000,000 wooden crossties annually to maintain their roadbeds in fit condition and take care of new construction.

"Our average American uses 125 pounds of paper a year—made largely from wood—and the growing circulation of our newspapers and magazines is increasing that very generous per capita allowance. "Our average well-kept farm, using the Upper Mississippi valley as an instance, require 2,000 board feet of lumber annually for repairs and improvements."

"Our citrus crop alone, for marketing, takes many millions of boxes of 5 1/2 board feet each, every year."

Mrs. Juliana Hayes Given Welcome On Return From East

The Woman's Relief Corps Kensington Club, with an attendance of twenty-six, met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ella Miller, 324 West Milford street. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Juliana Hayes, who was cordially welcomed on her return from the east after an absence of about four months.

During the meeting a discussion was held on the work of the club in Glendale. It was decided the next regular meeting would be held in the G. A. R. hall the last day of November instead of December 2. Each member will bring luncheon, and quilting will be in order during the all-day meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward Kretschmer and Mrs. Milligan.

Concert to Be Given at Glendale Sunday

Harold Stanton, dramatic tenor, who served as a lieutenant with the A. E. F., and Miss Maud Norman Reilly, contralto, will appear in concert at the Glendale Theatre Sunday under the management of L. E. Behmer of the Philharmonic. They will present a popular program and Paul Carson, the organist, will add to the large evening's entertainment with special selections.

In bringing out such high class entertainment, William A. Howe, manager of the Glendale, is offering local people the best possible in music, and the Sunday concerts should prove popular enough to fill the theatre.

It is useless to grasp an opportunity if you don't intend to do anything but stand around and hold on to it.

Broadway entertained at her luncheon guest Wednesday Mrs. Harry Lynch.

sojourning in Glendale for the winter. He is staying at 205 North Glendale avenue.

Mrs. S. L. MacMullin of 412 West Wilson avenue, who has been ill at her home for the past two weeks, is much improved and is now able to be up and about.

A. P. McBoyle of 361 West Milford street is expected home in a few days from Idaho, where he has been looking after business interests for the last three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Davis of Long Beach have just completed and have taken possession of their new home at 1044 Winchester street. They are much pleased with Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Offutt of 355 West Broadway will entertain at their guests over the week-end Mr.
and Mrs. Bob Tolen, who will motor up from their home in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ware, formerly of Van Nuys, are now located at 1211 East Harvard street. Mr. Ware is now in the transfer business here and they expect to make Glendale their permanent home.

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Freeman of Long Beach were the over-night guests of their niece, Mrs. George H.
Bentley of 400 South Adams street, and are remaining in Glendale for the Armistice day celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Kennedy and daughter, Earleen, and son, Gail,
who arrived here about two weeks ago from Okmulgee, Okla., have secured a location at 1010 East Lomita avenue and took possession Monday.
They will remain here for the winter.

William H. Hartman of La Crescenta, who has been calling on friends here at the home of A. H.
Barnes, 1300 East Lexington drive, will leave soon on a year's travel to recuperate from an operation which he recently underwent in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Edwin Strong, room mother of the B6 grade at the Cerritos avenue school, was in charge of the candy sale conducted at the school Wednesday at which over $11 was cleared. This will be used for P-T.
A. work and also to provide a treat for the class who gets 100 per cent in the membership drive.

An extra coat of paint on a house will not make it warmer according to
H. T. Stevens of Stevens' Paint Store, 219 1/2 East Broadway, but it will make it look nicer, live longer and fetch a more money in the market.
He says that business is coming right along and to prove it indicates the store's new cash register.

A new Emblem bicycle belonging to Herbert Jepson, 420 Lincoln avenue, was stolen while he was in attendance at the Intermediate school.
His father, Herbert H. Jepson, also reported to the police the theft of two hand axes and a pair of pruning shears from his wagon at Adams street and Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rigdon of 224 West Dene street entertained at their guests yesterday Mr. and Mrs.
W. M. Crosby of Spokane, Wash., who were en route to San Diego,
where both they and the Rigdons formerly resided. They are looking for a location and are seriously considering Glendale as their future home.

"No, those are not pills in those bottles there, and we are not conducting a drug store," said H. Hunt of the Modern Shoe Shop, conducted by Mrs. J. D. Spence, 114 East Broadway. "And you are not the first one to be mistaken, either," Mr.
Hunt added. The bottles contain eyeglasses and business is so rushing that he had to bottle them to make handling easier.

"Straight lines" are the leading modes at present," stated Mrs. M.
Holzman, manager of the Glendale
Dry Goods Company, 115 East Broadway, commenting upon the arrival of a shipment of the latest one-piece crepe de chine, canton crepe and tricot dresses from New York city. She declared that black is the prevailing color with just a dash of red to relieve the monotony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams and daughter, Irene, of Uica, N. Y., who are motoring through southern California, were callers at the office of the Circle Real Estate Company, 120
North Brand boulevard, Thursday.
Mr. Williams owns a large amount of business property in Kansas City, Missouri, and is so well impressed with Glendale that he is considering purchasing business property here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Adams of 1255
South Maryland avenue entertained with a dinner party recently in celebration of the 82nd birthday anniversary of Miss L. V. Learned, an aunt of Mr. Adams, who makes her home with them. The guests included
Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Laubach, Mr. and Mrs. S. Learned, Miss Mary Learned, Deroy Learned, Duren
Learned, Miss Edith Learned, Mr.
and Mrs. E. L. Adams and Miss Marion Adams.

At the regular meeting of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations held at the Intermediate school Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. John Robert White presiding, the speaker of the afternoon was Dr. E. C. Beach, who spoke on "Child Hygiene," telling the causes of physical defects and also the growth of children. A motion carried that the association request the Los Angeles daily papers not to elaborate on details of crime in their accounts of trials and arrests. Mrs.
Leslie Tronier was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of Mrs. M. S. Kuehny as treasurer.
Mrs. Peter Dietrich was appointed chairman of the "thrill" committee.
The next meeting will be December 14 at the home of Mrs. John Robert venir maple leaf direct from Montreal, according to H. E. Baines of the Mission Store, 107 West Broadway, who announced yesterday that he had just received a box of them from his old home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. McDill of 1451
East Wilson avenue had as visitors
Wednesday Mrs. and Mrs. George Shoemaker of Bozeman, Mont., who drove by automobile to California and are contemplating locating in Glendale for the winter.

Death Ends Unique Partnership; Real Pioneer Is Taken

Frank Monaghan, who died at his home 520 North Louise street, Sunday, was one of the real pioneers of the Golden West. He was born in New York state in 1850, and left an orphan at the age of 4 years. He came to California sixty-seven years ago, via Panama, earning his own living and educated himself at the famous Lincoln school. In 1883 he entered into partnership with Dan Murphy, now well known oil magnate, and together they established a mercantile business at Needles
under the firm name of Monaghan & Murphy.

Mr. Murphy tells the story of how they put up their sign, with the understanding that at the first words of disagreement between them, the sign was to be taken down. Thirty-eight years have passed since then and the sign is still up. In later years they became interested in the oil industry, and were very successful in their investments.

Mr. Monaghan came to Glendale seven years ago, hoping to find relief from a severe case of asthma, but was not able to combat the disease, and had not been actively engaged in business for some time.

Twenty-two of the pioneers whom he had known in his younger days were present at his funeral services, among them Mr. Murphy, his true partner to the end. Services were conducted in Glendale at the Catholic church, under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, and interment was made at Santa Ana, where the Elks lodge, Santa Ana, of which he was a charter member, was in charge of the last rites.

Legion Queen Comes From Line of Dons, Early Californians

Turn to the pages of the newspapers of bygone days and one will readily appreciate the reason why Miss Viola Yorba today presides as Queen of the American legion carnival.

She is a descendant of the dons who first settled Southern California, and in her early teens appeared in the dances of old Spain at the Case Verdugo Spanish restaurant conducted by her mother, Senora Piedad Yorba Sow. Later she appeared with Ernestino Martinez in featuring dances.

For a season Miss Yorba appeared in the Mission Play and has filled other engagements of importance.
Besides being a wonderful dancer,
she is a sweet singer and her winsome personality fits her well for the queenly honors bestowed upon her.

The American Legion is also indebted to Miss Yorba for her appearance at socials.

Russell Furniture Factory Plans for Increasing Quarters

The Russell Furniture factory at 1531-33 South San Fernando road will be enlarged the first of the year, announces Ralph E. Pierce, who recently purchased the interests of G. D. Simmons in the firm, and will operate the factory with L. W.
Russell. Additions will be built on the millroom which will increase the output and give more floor space for displaying furniture.

"We have been forced to enlarge the factory," said Mr. Pierce, "in order to take care of the retail trade.
The force of workmen will also be increased. Plans are now being made to incorporate for $50,000 and stock will be issued."

BIG DEMAND FOR FLAGS

"I sold more flags and decorations yesterday than any day since I opened," stated E. H. Baines of The Mission Store, 107 West Broadway, this morning. "I had to make two special trips to Los Angeles after more supplies."

Great men never make bad use of their superiority; they see it, and feel it, and are not less modest.
The more they have, the more they know their own deficiencies.—Rousseau.

Some ambitious people rise from nothing to something worse.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Three Years Ago Today
How Harrisburg Acted
Two Minutes of Silence Representative Edition

—By Gil A. Cowan—

ARMISTICE DAY again is being celebrated, but not so voicerous a manner as in 1918.
When the first report of the cessation of hostilities came across the water the little town in which I was stopping seemed to wake up from a dream. A lone church bell rang, the creamery whistle tooted and its populace wondered if peace had come.

Three days later when the Armistice was actually signed Chicago was in an uproar. Already every piece of paper which could be pitched from fifteenth story windows had been showered on the streets and the stocks of fireworks and confetti had been hauled from storage.
Pandemonium reigned on both the eighth and eleventh.

As the Pennsylvania flyer pulled through the yards at Pittsburgh late on the eleventh I could see the motor cars with their gay decorations and cheering occupants racing around town like mad. Harrisburg was the transfer point to Washington, and there is where I actually celebrated the signing of the Armistice. Babes were tossed high in the air, a half dozen separate parades were being held, the principal one being headed by the fire department.
The Evening Telegraph in Federal square had a band playing in front of its office, but nobody heard or saw what was going on.

"The war is over" was the chant
of the multitude marching.

At 2 o'clock in the morning I arrived in Washington, D. C., where I was stationed during the last eight months of the war. The officials had long since gone to bed satisfied that their work, while not finished, would be devoted to bringing the boys home again.

It had been quite some celebration in the nation's capital. With its thousands of clerks and others vitaly interested in the war there is no question but what Armistice Day meant much to the majority.
Most of them wanted to get home.
The same was true in camp. The eagerness to be in the fight no longer rested in the hearts of the nation.

Impressive, indeed, were the two minutes of silence observed throughout the nation this morning from 9:00 to 9:02 o'clock.

The first shrill call of the city's sirens, then the three volleys from the guardsmen's guns and the playing of taps by the bugler—which could be heard through the business district—while every one stood with bared heads facing the west—

That was the way in which the United States of America paid tribute to its honored dead.

Again The Glendale Evening
News publishes a large edition this Friday which is representative of Glendale. Advertising in these columns today was obtained in the regular way by the staff of the paper. The same is true with the news copy contained herein.

For a person who wishes to place
Glendale before their eastern friends in the proper light, there is nothing better than to send this paper to them today. It is NOT a special edition, other than the Armistice Day articles and pictures which, of course, are the news features of the day.

Fifty Dress Skirts at Bargain Prices on Sale at Gordon's

Gordon's, the store of ladies' and children's furnishings, is advertising a Saturday sale of fifty dress skirts. It is one of the big bargain events of the year. Last night's advertisement already has created considerable comment and attention is called to a slight typographical error which changed the meaning of the advertisement in the minds of some.
It should read this way:
"Saturday, while that last, we offer fifty dress skirts in black and light colored silks and plaid and stripe wool dress (not dresses) and sport skirts at $8.95, values $12.50 to $25.00."

One may readily see that there are no wool dresses on sale, simply the skirts which should be attraction enough, but Gordon's offers also women's and children's hose.

PACKERS SLASHING WAGES

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The "big five" packers have started a movement to slash wages at all their plants throughout the country. The packers, in formal notices, pointed out to the employees the necessity of wage reductions in order that they might cut expenses so as to compete in business. The "employees' representatives" were asked to consider the question of downward revision of wages and to make known their decision as soon as possible. No definite figures as to the amount of the reduction were suggested.

ASSISTANT CASHIER SHOT

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—George D.
Matthews, 19, assistant cashier for the Morgan Grove Trust and savings bank was fatally shot at "Lovers' Lane," near the outskirts of the city,
after he had taken a young woman to her home in his automobile. A man came out of the darkness, cried
"hands up," and they began shooting at each other. Matthews was shot twice in the side. His condition is critical.

As far as the exonerated White Sox are concerned, with big league baseball hereafter they will be a wonderful bunch of ball players.

Some men achieve fame by hard work; others move out of town and have their wives murder 'em.

Mrs. Fern Roberts Hostess to Members Chapter L, P. E. O.

Chapter L, P. E. O., held an all-day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fern Roberts, 617 East Elk avenue. The morning was devoted to business. Roll call was answered by quotations and current events.
Short talks were given by visiting members, after which a delicious luncheon was served, the hostesses being Mesdames Fern Roberts, May Emery, May Dickman and Josephine Farnham.

The chapter had designated Wednesday as "educational day," consequently an educational playlet was given by the following members: Mesdames J. Bryant, Edith Huntley, Elizabeth Read, Jessie Rossen, wuanita emery, Charlotte Goss, Margaret Campbell, Letitia Lusby, Genevieve Goss. A neat sum was contributed to the educational fund.
Mrs. Patience Beatty, supreme officer of the board of trustees of that fund was present and gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the work of her department.

Other guests were Mrs. Weissler of Chapter A, Denver, Colorado, all of the members of Chapter CJ of Glendale, Mrs. Webster of Chapter AH,
Mrs. Cooper of Chapter BA, and Mrs.
Albert Pearce. A good bit of sewing

Tuesday Club Gives Congratulations to Local Legion Post

The Glendale Evening News has been requested to publish the following open letter:

The Tuesday Afternoon club wishes to congratulate American Legion Post No. 127 upon the fair and consistent manner in which the recent Queen contest was conducted, and also to extend congratulations at this time to Miss Viola Yorba and Miss Dorothy Morton, acknowledging many past courtesies extended to the club by them.

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon club did not consider this late affair as a contest, but as an excellent opportunity to show "Our Boys" the earnest desire of the members to cooperate in whatever concerns the life and development of the Legion, and at this particular time, because one of the members allowed the use of her name, to help bring about the realization of their dearest wish—the materialization of a home.
MRS. A. M. WILLIAMS,
Chairman of Ways and Means.

'Old Members Day' Will Be Observed By Reading Circle

A very large attendance was present at the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, which was held at the library building, Mrs. A. A.
Barton presiding. It was decided to observe next Wednesday as "Old Members' Day," it being the plan to set aside one day every year at which the old members of the circle will be the guests of the present members.

The review was given by Mrs. C.
H. Crawford on an article in a current magazine, "The Comedy of Americanization." Mrs. H. V. Henry gave an article on "The Amazing Armistice," which dealt with the inside story of the premature peace reports. The regular reading from the book "All the Children of All the People," was resumed. The chapters read brought out a description of the ideal school, the author emphasizing the fact that the schools should be made to fit the children.

FOLLOWS ALLIES' WISHES

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Slovakia has ordered the demobilization of her

'A RAINBOW IN THE SKY'

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"President

FORGET HATE, URGES JAMES W. GERARD, EX-AMBASSADOR

Former United States Chief in Germany Writes About the Armament Conference

By JAMES W. GERARD
Former American Ambassador to Germany
Written for International News Service
Copyright, 1921, International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Within one hundred and seven years two great congresses have met to weigh the fate of the world. In November, 1814, there assembled in Vienna that Congress of Nations which re-made the map of Europe after the setting of Napoleon's star. Of that congress, Frederick von Gentz wrote to the master intriguer, Metternich, as follows:

"Those who at the time of the assembling of the congress at Vienna had thoroughly understood the nature and objects of this congress could hardly have been mistaken about its course, whatever their opinion about its results might be. The grand phrases of 'reconstruction of social order,' 'regeneration of the political system of Europe,' 'a lasting peace founded on a just division of strength,' etc., etc., were uttered to tranquilize the people and to give an air of dignity and grandeur to this solemn assembly; but the real purpose of the congress was to divide amongst the conquerors the spoils taken from the vanquished."

Was There Difference?
Did the convention, which met at Versailles, differ from the congress of Vienna about which von Gentz wrote? The word "mandate" was given a new application, namely to express the old seizure of enemy's territory and that distinction which we and our allies have made between the German people and their military mad rulers. On an unfortunate and misled people was placed the burden of a crushing indemnity and a new Alsace-Lorraine question created and a new peace made certain when that portion of the part of Germany called Silesia added to the country from which France hopes a war alliance.

Never was anything more apparent than that which Norman Angell has called "The Great Illusion—An Illusion That War Profits the Conqueror."

The back of the world of conqueror and conquered breaks under the burden of taxation to prepare for new war—offensive or defensive—it matters not. A few realize that of all the money we pay in taxes at least ninety per cent goes for war preparations or for the results of war. That great sum wisely spent would reclaim deserts, stamp out sickness, improve living conditions, prolong life, educate all the people, reduce the workman's hours of toil and give to the life of everyone a share of well-being, of amusement, and hope not impossible but improbable today.

Restless Germs of War
So at the most opportune moment President Harding has called the nations into conference to consider the question of limitation of armament and closely related thereto, questions which in the Pacific and Far East bear within themselves the restless germs of future wars.

The congress of Vienna met in the capital of despotism at a time when the poorer were slaves, compelled to follow their father's calling, when the Jews were persecuted, their marriage to Christians made a crime, trades in which they could engage limited and their bodies shut at sundown within the bounds of the poisonous ghettos of central Europe. The czar of Russia, whose people were not to be freed from slavery until 1866, dominated this congress which resulted in a "holy alliance" of despots to crush democracy wherever it should lift its head.

The congress of Versailles met where hatred, perhaps a just hatred, but hatred, nevertheless, ruled. In the distance could be seen dominating Paris, the Arc de Triomphe erected to celebrate the conquest of Europe by France, that arch which had then witnessed the backward swing of the pendulum of war and of revenge, when in 1870, the armies of Germany marched through it into the conquered city of Paris. In the palace rooms Louis XIV had planned the campaigns which had devastated the Palatinate and added Alsace to France. The political chief of the country in which the congress was held was Clemenceau—a tiger, who, like a tiger aroused, had most ably and patriotically defended his fatherland, but who wrote the treaty of peace with a tiger's claw.

Far from Hatreds
The congress called by President Harding meets in a place far removed from the theatre of the hatreds of Europe, for we do not hate in this country as they do in Europe. On one occasion Marcel Prevost, the French novelist and analyst of character, and Ferrero, the renowned historian of ancient Rome, both told me that the thing which struck them most in America was the absence of hatred so often encountered in Europe, both in public and private life.

Only the weak conceal weakness behind a mask of surliness and contempt—a strong man can allow his heart to show. The most distinguishing characteristic of President Harding is his kindly strength. He, of course, desires to realize great ideals—to go down in history's pages as one who has accomplished great things for all mankind. He is like all of us in America, an idealist, but an idealist with his feet on the ground.

ONE OF WORLD WAR'S GREATEST HEROES TELLS STORY OF BRAVE ACTS; KILLS 19 IN TWO HOURS!

Thrilling Tale of Death is Related by This First Lieutenant; Now in Washington to Represent Infantry at Burial of Unknown Soldier

Lieutenant Samuel Woodfill, U. S. A., has recently come to light as one of the war's greatest heroes. General Pershing discovered that Woodfill, while a first lieutenant in the Fifth division, A. E. F., performed acts of bravery in the Argonne forest that entitled him to the highest honor. Single handed, Woodfill went into "No Man's Land" and cleaned up German machine gun nests, killing nineteen Germans in two hours.

Woodfill, now in Washington to represent the Infantry at the burial of an unknown veteran on Armistice day, has for the first time written the story of his courageous feat.

By SAMUEL WOODFILL
Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—As a first lieutenant I was sent to the Sixtieth infantry, Fifth division, late in 1918. Late in August, 1918, the regiment was relieved in Alsace and I started marching to the St. Mihiel sector. Our mission having been completed, we proceeded to Blercourt, arriving there October 4.

In the Argonne, while we were advancing, enemy machine gunners and artillery concentrated a heavy fire on us. Some dropped into shell holes; I was forced to take cover in a dummy trench, not deep enough to hide the pack on my back. They kept up a heavy string of fire, knocking dirt and rock over me and puncturing my raincoat.

I wrote a farewell note on the back of my little photograph of a dear loved one, my wife. However, the enemy being pushed by Yank troops, suddenly ceased firing. At daylight, October 12, we were ordered over the top for combat reconnaissance. A terrible barrage forced us to dig in. The enemy was entrenched and shrouded by a heavy fog. I saw the necessity for quick action and signaling several men to follow me, I crept, by detouring, on a machine gun position.

I slid my rifle forward, raised on my elbows and killed five Germans in the pit. One enemy gunner attempted to retreat. I killed him with my pistol. I dashed to a cover of brush and ran into a German officer in hiding. He attempted to disarm me. I killed him with my automatic.

There was continuous firing. The enemy had been creeping through and was sweeping the woods with fire. Having lost control of my company in the dense wilderness, I continued to advance by taking cover. I located another machine gun after a short distance, crawling to a

Miss Alice G. Beach Guest of Honor at Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Alberta Heister and sister, Mrs. J. T. Beach of 115 North Orange street, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given last night in honor of Miss Alice Grey Beach, who is soon to become the bride of Homer Wellman.

During the evening games were played, the remainder of the time being spent in needlework. The dining table, where refreshments were served, was beautifully decorated with pink Cherokee roses. The color scheme throughout was of pink, green and yellow. The favors were made of crepe paper in the form of Cherokee roses and were filled with candy.

The gifts were presented to Miss Beach in a very novel manner. A box in which were the gifts was covered with pink art paper in the shape of a mammoth Cherokee rose, and this flower was presented to the guest of honor.

Those who enjoyed this delightful affair included Miss Alice Grey Beach, Mrs. Noble Ripley, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Marshall Pearson, Mrs. Jamie Shea, Mrs. Sidney Simon, Miss Ernestine Lyon, Miss Celia Lyon and Miss Lila Webster and the two hostesses, Miss Heister and Mrs. J. T. Beach.

A. M. Yale Declares He Will Stand by Offer to Purchase

"Well, we haven't had any one come in and want to cash in on our offer of yesterday," smiled A. M. Yale, of the Yale Brothers' Realty company, 249 North Brand boulevard, "but we'll do as it was stated if anyone wants to take it up."

"What we meant to say was:

"Will you pay 80 cents for one dollar," instead of "Will you pay 80 cents for one dollar." However, we'll stand back of it," he added, with a smile.

his secretary of state, Charles Evans Hughes.

We of the bar of New York know him and respect his great talents, his power to obtain results. Contact with life has mellowed the original stern puritanism of his character and given him the diplomatic touch. In all the broad continent of America there is no man better fitted for his great task.

Lends Power of Name

But the man whose drive created this congress is not a member—Borah, of Idaho, a far-seeing and forceful apostle of peace. He will, however, lend the power of his name, the force of his eloquence to bring a solution of the difficulties that now harass the nations of the earth.

We hope that under our sunny skies, in our soft Indian summer, the delegates of the world powers will forget their old hatreds. Especially is it fitting that this congress meets in the city named for the man who gave up power at its height and voluntarily retired to honored private life; an example rare, indeed, in Europe.

Patriotic Parade Is Cheered by Thousands; Glendale Celebrates

Women's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, and Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Red Cross car was driven by H. E. Bartlette, accompanied by Mrs. H. E. Bartlette, chairman of the chapter. Mrs. C. L. Peckham, chairman of the roll call, and Mrs. A. W. Dow, assistant chairman of the roll call.

Boy and Girl Scouts were both represented in the parade as well as the Winona Camp Fire Girls and the Soangetahana Camp Fire Girls. The Boy Scouts wore their regular uniform of khaki and the Girl Scouts wore feminine white sailor uniforms. The Camp Fire Girls were attired in hiking and Indian squaw costumes and a number of them occupied an automobile while others marched on foot.

School Section

The school system occupied a large part of the parade. Their section was led by the Board of Trustees followed by cars containing the school faculties and members of the various Parent-Teacher associations.

The high school float was one of the noticeable features of the parade. This was a float bearing the British Union Jack and the French flag as well as many American flags and trimmed with pepper branches, white varnations and asters and red geraniums.

Upon it sat a bevy of high school girls attired in white. School principals rode in a car bearing the banner of the City Teachers' Club.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club was represented by several decorated cars containing the officials of the organization. The leading float was decorated with flowers and carried a number of large flags.

The grammar schools were represented by a decorated float containing a number of tiny tots in red cross dresses and white sailor uniforms. Upon a throne of red flowers sat Uncle Sam, Jefferson Seales, and Miss Columbia, Estelle Sooy. This float was led by the "Jolly Tars," lads in nautical uniforms.

Flags and bunting and flowers featured the many automobiles entered by the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

At the conclusion of the parade brief ceremonies were held at the high school athletic field with a short address and prayers by various local ministers. Special strains were laid on the success of the disarmament conference at Washington by which it is hoped to make another world war impossible.

FOR DISABLED VETERANS

The management of the Sheesley Shows has announced that tomorrow afternoon is to be known as a special occasion for the disabled former service men. All of the inmates of Thornycroft hospital have been especially invited to take in all of the attractions and concessions at the show grounds as guests of the owners and of the American legion. The boys will be transported to the show in a number of automobiles which have been donated for the occasion.

In choosing the delegate and alternate for the state convention to be held at Oakland January 19 to 21, inclusive, E. P. Hayward and Charles B. Guthrie were elected respectively.

To Plan Year's Work
It was also decided at the meeting that the governing body would hold a meeting at some date in the near future to plan the work for the coming year and make an effort to have every realty broker in Glendale become a member of the board. Mr. Thom was given much applause on his election and responded with a very enthusiastic talk on putting pep in the organization and working for the good of Glendale.

Realty Exchange Is Specializing in Five and Ten Acre Tracts

"When the people call for bread, give it to them and produce the wheat to make the bread yourself, if necessary!"

This sums up the policy of the Glendale Realty exchange which is a strong booster for this city and a firm believer in the idea of having local people intensively cultivate the nearby farm and fruit lands as a sure means of permanent income.

The Glendale Realty exchange boasts of an organization which has had years of experience in ranch lands, also men who understand water rights, western farming and stockraising. At present the firm is specializing in five and ten-acre ranches in and near Glendale and also subdividing 1000 acres of alfalfa land in the Del Sur district, about twenty-four hours from Glendale by motorcar.

Details of this interesting project may be obtained from officials of the Glendale Realty exchange.

Hold Conference on Sales of Seats in Pasadena's Stadium

A. J. Bertonneau, manager of the stadium committee, and C. D. Daggett, member of the Tournament of Roses, visited Glendale Thursday to confer with officials of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce about the local sale of seats in the new million-dollar Tournament of Roses stadium to be built next year in Pasadena.

The big athletic plant will cost approximately $1,000,000 and will have 65,000 permanent seats, and facilities can be provided for approximately 15,000 temporary seats.

These seats will be sold on a five and ten year basis. Eight thousand seats have been offered for public subscriptions, and the first event will be the game New Year's day in the present plant with its limited seating capacity. The subject of seat sale here will be discussed by the Chamber of Commerce directors at their meeting next Tuesday.

Here's the Answer

The changeable weather of Autumn gives rise to a knotty problem of dressing for comfort and health. Most folks lean toward the warmer periods—that's why colds are so prevalent when the thermometer drops and the raw winds blow.

LAXACOLD

taken after exposure or at the first sign of a cold, is helpful toward warding off the attack; it is also efficient as a router of the cold that has "taken root."

Impressive Tribute Paid by Nation to Unknown Soldier

The Senators went to join the procession without.

"Our sympathies," said the Senate Chaplain, "are with the mothers throughout this land of ours today. Some of them may be wondering if this unknown soldier may not be theirs. Our hearts are with them and with him."

The procession began moving into position soon after 8 o'clock. At its head was Brigadier-General Bandholtz, Commanding General of the District of Columbia, and his staff.

Immediately behind the staff came a drum corps, beating the measured cadence of the march, the Army band from Washington barracks, and then the composite foot regiment of infantry, blue jackets, Marines and National Guard.

The telephone company says: "The voice with a smile wins." You bet it does—but the wrong number!

In this manner he saves himself from possible penitentiary sentences for alleged forgery, bigamy and embezzlement. Willsey was the man who made a mysterious escape from the jail cell in fire station No. 1 about two weeks ago.

WAR VETERANS AT THORNYCROFT, AFTER FACING ENEMY FIRE, ARE NOW FIGHTING TO REGAIN HEALTH

Patients at Sanitarium are Cheerful and Display Modesty in Relating Experiences 'Over There'; Appreciate Cheer Given by Local Folk

THOSE to whom war is still a grim reality instead of something in the abstract, who are still waging a courageous fight for life, are the service men at Thornycroft, over fifty in number, many of whom were in the parade today.

The Thornycroft Sanitarium, owned by Mrs. N. Maxwell Miller, and under government contract, is a refuge in a beautiful orange grove at 1100 East Windsor road for the benefit of men who, through service for their country, contracted tuberculosis. Formerly, disabled ex-service men suffering from other ailments were sent there, but the climate of Glendale has been found so particularly beneficial in tubercular cases that now only men afflicted with lung trouble are being cared for at the sanitarium.

A number of cases resulted from an attack of influenza after the armistice was signed, while others have been found afflicted with tubercular trouble which developed after being discharged from the army or navy, and which have been found attributable to service. In some instances the improvement is remarkable in a short time, while others require a longer stay. A number have been discharged as quiescent cases and the patients have been enabled to take up vocational training.

A visit to the sanitarium finds in general a cheerful attitude on the part of the patients and a modesty in relating their thrills in the war that is surprising when one considers the great odds against them in the present fight and the experiences some of them have undergone in the cause of "making the world safe for democracy," as one of them put it, with a faint smile.

Recognize Both Sides

Their never-to-be-forgotten experiences are varied—hours endured out in "No Man's Land" waiting for first aid; days spent in hospitals wondering how soon they would be well enough to rejoin their organizations at the front; weeks spent in hospitals in the states, hoping to get well enough to go; discharged from the army or navy; and months, for some, in furnishing all the required affidavits and dispensing with the preliminaries for compensation. The same visit to the sanitarium will find men with broad visions, men who readily recognize both sides of a question, men whose interests are somewhat concerned in the welfare of others than themselves. "I only did my bit," is added to the narration of any hardship related by the veterans, and that simple phrase clearly explains the great question many callers want to ask, and some do: "Was it worth while?"

Occasionally there is a despondent mood, which is but temporary, and during such times a patient will wish for another war that he might go to the front and there have his final reward come quickly instead of meted out in a prolonged affliction. But happily these moods are few and far between and the patients are usually engaged in some kind of recreation or activity that keeps their minds in more optimistic channels.

There are many books which have been supplied by visitors and welfare organizations; there is a music room with a victrola and a piano; there is a pool room and a croquet ground; and there are grassy courts out in the sunshine. In the activities the first organization in Southern California of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War was formed by the Thornycroft veterans, an organization which later in Los Angeles became united with the national organization. Captain Herbert T. Nowell, who died October 21, was one of the enthusiastic workers for the cause of the organization and a meeting was held in his room just a few days before he died.

Bull Terrier Mascot

In making their rounds of the sanitarium one is sure to encounter the renowned mascot of James R. Floyd.

Mr. Floyd occupies a cottage in the southeast part of the grounds. The mascot is a bull terrier that goes by the name of "Bugs," and throughout the day is usually found on his master's front door-step. Despite his long line of grouchy ancestors, "Bugs" possesses a canny smile that is enlivening to the whole institution, and every one knows him. Not long ago "Bugs" received a postcard bearing the inscription: "Take good care of your master."

Roy B. Haworth of Headquarters company, Three Hundred Sixty-fourth infantry, who went over the top at Cigarette Butte on the morning of September 6, 1918, had a number of thrilling and painful experiences during the next few days as he acted as runner to carry messages for regimental headquarters near Verry. On the fifth day of the battle Mr. Haworth was wounded in the back with a piece of shrapnel. At the same time the Germans sent over a gas barrage and Mr. Haworth was gassed. He was later removed to the first aid station at the cross-roads just south of Verry. His experiences up to that minute were plentiful enough but more was in store for him. After much persuasion he told it as follows:

Major Gets Excited

"I was runner, carrying messages for the company in the Meuse-Argonne offensive which began on the morning of September 26, and on the fifth day of the battle I had been sent out with a message from regimental headquarters. The Germans began shelling and a major yelled for me to get in a dug-out. He called me some plain names for not doing so, but I yelled back that I had just come out of a dug-out and was being sent with a message from the adjutant. The major said—well, what he said about that adjutant was a caution.

"I had gone hardly 200 yards from regimental headquarters when a piece of shrapnel hit me in the back, injuring my spine. Then a gas barrage came over and I was out of the game. I was not surprised at the turn of events for me, for I had been going since the offensive was launched the morning of the 26th; I had seen what had happened to many others acting as runner, and I had reasoned out that one could not possibly miss getting his if he only kept going long enough.

They Leave Him There

"In spite of the firing I was removed to the first aid station at the cross-road south of Verry in a remarkably short time. I was placed on the operating table and the medics began to probe for the shrapnel. About that time the Germans began to shell the station, and every one who was able to run, beat it, and beat it quick, leaving me on the table. When the shelling stopped and the gang returned I was unconscious and they all thought I had been killed.

"That was some ordeal, but a worse one was in store for me. From the first aid station I was taken by truck to the hospital near the original front line where the Ninety-first hopped off. The distance was about five miles, by the route we had to go, and the road was over shell holes, barbed wire entanglements, and everything to make that truck jump and rear around. I was lying on a mighty poor cushion on the bottom of that truck and I know every bump of the road. I swore that if I ever got out of that truck I'd never get in another."

Destroying Ammunition

An interesting fight put up by another of the Thornycroft veterans is that of Harold M. Cowan of Pontiac, Mich., who served with an ammunition train of the First Army corps. His work began many days prior to a battle and continued for many days after, and even after the armistice, his work with the company being to destroy large quantities of German ammunition abandoned by the enemy in the final retreat. This work was dangerous in that it involved handling ammunition with which the men were not as familiar as with United States shells, and extreme caution had to be exercised in arranging the shells to be destroyed. And then after it was all over, Mr. Cowan was stricken with influenza, leaving him in a tubercular condition which causes him to be in the sanitarium now. He tells it in part:

"With the ammunition company of the First Army corps our work usually started many days before the attack, and lasted several days after—in fact, as I think about it now, it seems that our most dangerous work was that of demolition—when we had to destroy many large quantities of ammunition left by the Germans after the armistice.

"The work of arranging the detonators was ticklish business for, had there been a premature explosion, nothing would have been left of us. We began usually by burying a shell from a trench mortar after which it was exploded leaving a large hole in the ground. Into this hole other ammunition was placed and exploded and the process repeated until we ran out of ammunition or the hole became too big. Into one excavation we placed and exploded more than 800 rounds of heavy artillery ammunition.

Where Is His Check?

"And then after all that work I took the flu. It was just like the case of the man who went through all kinds of war at the front and, then on his return to New York, was run over by a flivver. I came here more than a year ago and have spent most of that time in trying to get compensation. More than a month ago I was told that compensation had been awarded me, after I had made out affidavit after affidavit and secured signing vouchers from almost everyone I knew in the service, from the officers under whom I served and from the top sergeant. It was some fight—to get compensation, and I haven't received the check yet."

There are many others at the sanitarium with stories equally as interesting. Some are in no condition to talk outside of visiting hours.

Francis P. Tilton is one of the patients whose Victory medal shows four bars. Mr. Tilton has been doing some excellent work in vocational training in the line of commercial art.

Samuel Kellar, a Russian-born American, served with the Ninety-first division and has a great many experiences to relate, but doesn't care to reveal them. He has been in various hospitals during the last two years for tubercular trouble and admits that Glendale climate suits him best of all.

ARMISTICE DAY

Bringing with it Peace and the Liberty of every Nation

—Such a Day is worth remembrance and recognition, and is being observed today through the length and breath of this great land.

Few of us have ever paused to really THINK of the wonderful importance of the Armistice. On that day, the aggressive Germans admitted their defeat. That day the FREEDOM of our land from foreign aggression was guaranteed.

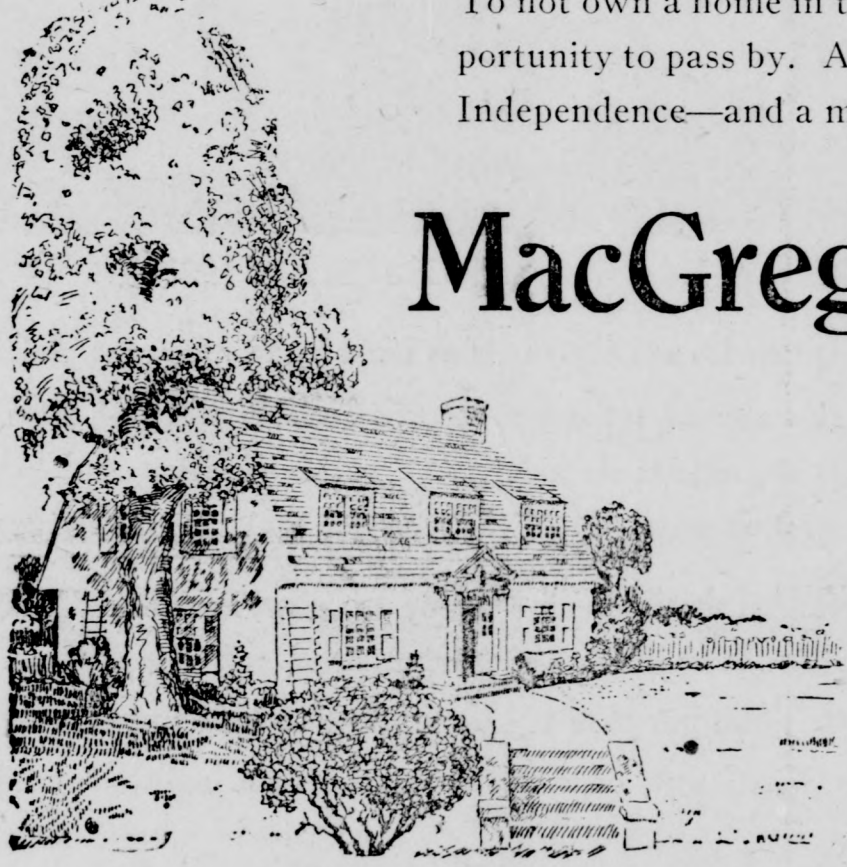

Liberty and Freedom in this wonderful country of ours is the heritage of every citizen. One and all are equal and have the privilege and opportunity of owning their own homes and the right to live in peace and happiness.

To not own a home in this prosperous nation is to allow a great opportunity to pass by. A home makes for better citizenship—greater Independence—and a more enjoyable family life.

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 11.—Sheriff John A. Boyes, and a party of Deputies were scouring territory on each side of the Sanoma road for trace of two bandits who held up and robbed C. L. Mariner, manager of an oil company, as he was coming to this city in his automobile. The bandits fired two shots at Mariner and relieved him of a considerable sum of money and other valuables.

'QUO VADIS?' SHOWS HERE TONIGHT AT GLENDALE

Last Opportunity to See Big Film; Vaudeville Is to Be Featured Tomorrow

The great story of the early Christian Era, "Quo Vadis?" has appeared in three forms, and each time it has been a sensation. Henryk Sienkiewicz's novel was the most talked of book of the decade when it was published in the late nineties. The stage production was one of the most stupendous scenic undertakings ever put in a theatre, but neither compared with the great spectacular and realistic photo-production of George Knefel's.

This photodrama, with the big scene of the burning of Rome and the frightful one of the lions and the Christian martyrs will be shown at the Glendale Theatre for the last time tonight.

At Gives 'Em Giggles

Al St. John keeps the crowds rolling in laughter during the showing of his latest comedy, "Aint Love Grand?" You'd never suspect it of Al.

Tomorrow should prove another banner day at the Glendale Theatre with five acts of vaudeville combined with a feature photoplay, both matinee and evening performances. Paul Carson, as usual, provides the music.

ENGLAND PREPARED TO PAY

LONDON, Nov. 11.—England is prepared to pay the fifty million pounds due to the United States as the 1922 interest on her indebtedness, Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, declared, in a speech before the house of commons. "We shall meet our obligations," Horne said. "Much harm is being done by discussing inter-allied debts. This discussion is not conducive to a friendly feeling between England and America."

J. F. Stanford and Family Back From San Francisco Trip

"It certainly seems good to be back in Glendale," said J. F. Stanford, as he entered his office at 112½ South Brand boulevard Thursday afternoon after almost a week spent in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Stanford and son, Samuel, 1147 East Wilson avenue, left on a pleasure trip last Friday to San Francisco, and during their stay there enjoyed visiting in Oakland and Alameda as well as the Bay City. At no time on the trip, says Mr. Stanford, did they find as much building activity and general progressiveness as in Glendale.

"While we found rather pleasant weather in San Francisco," said Mr. Stanford, "yet it is a pleasure to be back in Glendale. I don't believe there is any city that compares with our own. Our sojourn was purely a trip of recreation and we enjoyed seeing San Francisco, especially the Golden Gate Park. We also spent some time in Oakland and Alameda. We enjoyed ourselves very much but are glad to get back. I don't think there is as much activity in proportion either in San Francisco, Alameda or Oakland as there is right here."

"Incidentally, while I was gone the office made two important sales."

WILL RECEIVE WARNING

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Premier Lloyd George said today reasonable notice would be given Commons in the event of the Irish truce breaking down. "The government," he said, "is not able to disclose the measures it will take in the event of a breakdown in negotiations."

RURAL SKETCH WILL BE FEATURED ON T. D. & L. BILL

'The Half Way House' Wins Much Praise; Clever Bits of Melody Promised

"The Half Way House" is one of the most delightful rural sketches presented on the vaudeville stage in years. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher have played this little playlet on the Pantages circuit with huge success, and it is only because of their desire to spend a few weeks in California that Meiklejohn & Dunn are able to arrange their appearance in Glendale at the T. D. & L. theatre.

There are few attractions that are able to play a return engagement at Grauman's Million Dollar Theatre. The Dixie Four have appeared at this theatre many times and are always well received when they play there. This dusky quartette offer many new songs and imitations and are considered the best quartette on the Pacific coast.

Sure to Charm

Bemont and Krake, two dainty misses, are sure to charm their audience with the clever bits of melody that go to make up their acts. These young ladies play many different instruments and play them all well. They also have just completed an engagement at Grauman's Million Dollar Theatre, where their lovely voices captivated all who heard them.

"Moonlight and Honeysuckle" is the title of the latest starring vehicle of Mary Miles Minter. This is a light comedy drama, full of twists and turns of plot, that will win many new admirers for Miss Minter.

STATES JAPAN WILL NOT INSIST UPON NAVAL PROGRAM

Exclusive Statement Made by High Official in Reply to Leading Questions

Copyright, 1921, International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Japan will not necessarily insist upon completion of her "eight and eight" program of naval construction, now building, provided that "a proper understanding" concerning limitation of armament is reached at the forthcoming conference.

Furthermore Japan has not forfeited any of her islands of the mid-Pacific and will not do so as long as she is certain of the "peaceful attitude of neighboring nations toward Japan."

These and similar opinions were expressed by Vice-Admiral Kato, chief naval adviser to the Japanese delegation, in an interview with the International News Service, in which he indicated Japan's willingness to "go along" with the other nations at the conference in their efforts to limit armament and allay the frictional causes of future wars in the Pacific and far east.

Admiral Kato's opinion concerning some phases of the conference and his country's attitude in relation thereto, was expressed in answering a list of half a dozen questions put to him by the International News Service. The questions and their answers follow:

Questions and Answers
Q.—It has been reported in the American press that Japan will conclude her eight and eight program regardless of the conference. Is this necessary to Japan's safety?

A.—Japan is coming to the conference in the spirit of conciliation and will not necessarily insist upon this program, provided proper understanding can be reached at the conference.

Q.—What basis does Japan think proper for limitation of armament—proportionate limitation, according to present strength or equal limitation by all of the powers?

A.—From various reports which have appeared, I understand the American authorities consider it premature to express any opinion along this line and will make no statement on this point until after the conference is definitely convened. I believe it would hardly be in accord with their wishes if I were to say anything along this line.

Q.—Does Japan consider that she should have a navy equal to those of Great Britain and America in view of the much shorter coast line she has to defend?

A.—The object of armament is to secure safety of a nation. As this has been revealed by Admiral Mahan, the naval forces of two opposing nations in war are not stationed along their coast lines, but their main strengths are concentrated to be pitted against each other in a decisive battle and upon victory or defeat in such a battle will depend the fate of the nation. This principle has been thoroughly demonstrated by the history of naval warfare, especially during the recent world war. It is not proper, therefore, to determine relative naval strength according to the extent of coast lines. I believe each nation has the right to possess naval armaments sufficient to protect its own safety against any naval force which other nations may use offensively.

Q.—Does Japan consider fortification of her islands of the Pacific necessary to her national defense and would Japan meet America half way in agreeing not to fortify those islands?

A.—At present there is no fortified island in the mid-Pacific on our part. It will remain so as long as we are certain of the peaceful attitude of neighboring nations towards Japan. Japan even exceeds your question in her eagerness and desire to use the Pacific islands for purposes of peaceful development only. It is the earnest hope of the entire Japanese nation that a thorough understanding be arrived at between Japan and America so that neither of these countries shall fortify or equip as naval bases any of the islands situated near the possession of the other.

Q.—There have been frequent stories that Japan is secretly engaged in building a number of cruiser-submarines, and that she is using the islands of the Pacific as bases for these. Does Japan contemplate the use of the Pacific islands as submarine bases?

A.—In answer to the first part of your question, I would say that in these days of complete systems of intelligence, it is a matter of absolute impossibility to undertake any such construction program in secrecy.

Such stories as referred to are incredible and unthinkable. With regard to the latter part of the question I would say that reports of fortifications on South Sea Islands are absolutely without foundation.

Admiral Kato declined to express any opinion concerning the decision of the British government, reported from London several days ago, to send a substantial portion of the British fleet to Pacific waters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Evidence of an intention on the part of the defense in the case of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, charged with manslaughter, to launch a counter attack against the district attorney's office was seen in the subpoenaing of Walter Trefts, secretary to District Attorney Brady, and Howard Vernon, a court stenographer. They will be required to produce statements taken from a large number of witnesses for the district attorney. It is understood that the defense plans in this manner to counter attack charges by the state that state witness have been approached. District Attorney Brady reiterated his belief today that statements taken in the east concerning the physical condition of Virginia Rappe will never enter into the trial.

In general, treachery, though at first sufficiently convincing.

SPEECH BY HARDING HEARD BY CROWDS VIA TELEPHONE

First Time in History New Perfected Invention Used to Carry Voice Afar

For the delivery of the funeral oration for the memorial services for the nation's dead, represented by an unknown American soldier from the battlefields of France, conducted at the Arlington cemetery, Washington, D. C., on Armistice day, President H. B. Thayer of the American Telephone & Telegraph company offered to place at the disposal of President Harding and the general staff of the army the latest developments in the art of telephony. The offer was accepted by President Harding and immediate contact was established between army officials and the experts of the Bell system.

As a result it was decided to install at the Arlington amphitheatre special telephone equipment so that the president's oration and the exercises could be heard not only in the amphitheatre itself, but also by the thousands of troops massed in the cemetery and an immense concourse of people occupying the nearby hillsides. It was also decided to link up three other great American cities by long distance telephone lines so that all which was said at Arlington cemetery could be heard by large audiences in New York, Chicago and San Francisco by means of Telephone company's loud speaker system.

First Time in History

Never before in history has the head of any nation been able to address such vast numbers of his people. Never before have the words of any national leader been carried to great audiences assembled at the far distant limits of his country. Such an accomplishment could not fail to impress foreign visitors, who must realize that what President Harding is able to do now can be done at no distant day in any other country, and can be done between one nation and another, for the eventual furtherance of mutual understanding and harmony between all nations of the earth.

So today by means of telephone amplifiers and long distance lines, the gatherings at San Francisco, at Chicago, at New York and at Arlington cemetery, will hear the same solemn words and be in unison in the same reverent spirit. The broad scope of the addresses will be emphasized by the fact that the clocks in San Francisco will show the hour of 9 and those of Chicago the hour of 11 while those of New York and Washington will be at high noon.

First Test Is Made

On Saturday afternoon, October 1, the first transcontinental test was made. On the roof of the telephone building in San Francisco a man stood about three feet away from a special transmitter, connected by a suitable apparatus to the transcontinental line extending to Olympic park, Newark, N. J., where connection was made to loud speaking apparatus set up in a large open field which would accommodate an audience of hundreds of thousands.

Dispatches were read at random from the daily newspapers, and portions of President Harding's inaugural address were repeated. Persons standing more than 1000 feet away from the loud speaking projectors at Newark heard with startling distinctness and ample volume, every word spoken in San Francisco. These results were reassuring in the highest degree and established beyond peradventure the capabilities of the transcontinental line to perform this kind of service.

Further Developed

Since the undertaking of the inauguration of President Harding when his speech was amplified to be heard by more than 125,000 people gathered in front of the national capitol, the art has now developed so that distance is annihilated. It is now possible to transmit the speech of an orator over the longest wires and have it reproduced with as much force and power as though the speaker were in the presence of his audience, when as a matter of fact he may be thousands of miles away. Moreover, what can now be done to reach audiences in a few cities simultaneously, will eventually be possible for many cities so that representative audiences throughout the land and in every state can hear an important address by their chief executive at one time. What that will mean in future history is almost beyond imagination.

Pugilist at College Only for Film Play

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11.—Quite a few of the "rah rah" boys wondered what brought Jimmy Kelly the bantamweight Chicago pug, to Notre Dame as a student.

Now they know—the secret's out. Kelly came here for college "atmosphere" so he can star in a three-reel movie thriller, "When a Fighter Goes to College."

The picture will be staged by Jim ("Tex") Mullen, promoter and manager of boxers. The whole plot revolves around a fighter who is making hay while the sun shines, going to college to improve himself mentally so that when he is through in the ring he will be able to cope with the larger affairs of life.

Kelly, now that he is here, longs for an education and says he will regret when he has to leave. He likes college life a great deal better than he did peddling papers in Chicago.

But then to be an actor—well, Kelly thinks that's something different.

Doing nothing is equivalent to doing wrong.

"Rush Hours"

In all lines of business patronage is irregular. Street cars, stores, banks and restaurants have their "rush hours" when some delays in service are unavoidable. The public, with the situation before its eyes, good naturedly accepts a degree of inconvenience.

There are "rush hours" in a telephone exchange. With business service the "loads" of telephone traffic are determined by commercial activities, banking hours, etc.—the "load" of the residence telephone varies with household and social needs.

The demands upon the telephone operator and a complicated mechanical equipment cannot be seen, but telephone traffic varies in every hour of every day according to the individual desires of thousands of patrons.

If there should be at times a delay in answering your call, remember that trained young women with nimble fingers are doing their best to serve you, and that at the moment there may be a "rush" of telephone traffic.

The exercise of patience and consideration will mean better service.

NEIGHBOR IS TOO GOOD!

CLEVELAND—Mrs. Bertha Wilson complained to Assistant Police Prosecutor Russick that she had too good a neighbor. "Perhaps I can induce him to take the house next mine."

CITY CLOCK ON A SPREE

BELLAIRE, Ohio—The city clock on the Central school building here ran wild recently. The striking apparatus refused to quit after striking twelve and continued working for several minutes. ### WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO LOCAL AMERICAN LEGION POST PROVES BIG AID IN SPREADING CHEER

Organization of Benefit in Helping Former Service Men Who Are Disabled; Many Activities Take Time of Members and Much Accomplished

BY CORINNE ORFF

WHEN one speaks of the Women's Auxiliary to American Legion Post No. 127, the first thing that is brought to mind is the splendid work which has been accomplished by its members in the way of spreading cheer among the ex-service men and war nurses at Thornycroft Sanitarium, although that is not the only thing which has been accomplished by them since the organization of the auxiliary in March, 1919. Within one year from that time the auxiliary had a total membership of about eighty.

The first officers of the auxiliary were Mrs. James F. McBryde, president; Mrs. W. B. Kelly, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Bullard, secretary; Mrs. C. L. Bullard, treasurer. The charter members included Mrs. E. A. Bode, Miss Elizabeth Bullard, Mrs. C. L. Bullard, Mrs. George E. Clayton, Mrs. Walter Nicoles, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Mrs. Virginia F. Rowley, Mrs. Jessie Taylor, Mrs. W. B. Kelly, Mrs. Emma Purket, Mrs. June Stone, Mrs. Dru W. Nicoles, Mrs. E. D. Wright, Mrs. Cora M. Dunn and Mrs. Roy C. Flint.

The present membership of the Women's auxiliary is about fifty and the officers are Mrs. James F. McBryde, president; Mrs. E. U. Emery, vice president; Mrs. Katherine B. Rowe, secretary; Miss Waunita Emery, treasurer.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward is chairman of the executive committee and presides at the committee's meetings. The relief committee, which looks after the sick soldiers and plans for programs and so forth for the boys at Thornycroft, has as its chairman Mrs. E. U. Emery.

Helps Local Legion

The auxiliary aids very materially in helping the local legion in meeting clubroom rent and other expenses, and have conducted food sales and have in other ways raised money for this purpose. They have also proven themselves invaluable in services rendered at special programs and entertainments given by the local American legion post, No. 127, when they have assisted in the serving and preparation of lunches, refreshments, etc.

One big item in the furnishing of American legion clubrooms at 610 East Broadway was taken care of by the auxiliary members, and that was the purchasing and making of the curtains, which was no small item as the windows in the clubroom are not scarce.

The auxiliary makes it a point to respond readily to calls for help from former service men and their families, and since its organization has been generous in donations of fruits, jellies, clothing and other supplies, as needed.

Christmas Program

Last Christmas the auxiliary prepared a splendid Christmas program and also distributed sixty-five packages, containing candy, cakes, sweaters, books and other gifts appropriate for the holiday season, among the former service men and

MRS. JAMES F. M'BRYDE
President, Women's Auxiliary, Glendale Post No. 127,

war nurses who were at Thornycroft at that time.

The auxiliary is also planning another fine program for the holiday season this year. They have also had charge of and were responsible for the splendid programs which have been given throughout the year for the boys there. Gifts of oranges, apples and other fruit have been taken from time to time to them by the auxiliary members, many of whom have also been very generous in the use of their automobiles in taking the boys at Thornycroft for rides.

Luncheons, dinners, theatre parties and dinner parties have also been given during the year by many of the auxiliary members at their own homes.

"Poppy Day" Big Success

"Poppy Day," which was held last summer under the direction of the Women's Auxiliary of the American legion, will also be remembered as one of the big things undertaken by the local members.

At that time poppies were sold for the benefit of the destitute children of France, the children who were behind the lines and who were desperately in need of immediate aid.

A check for something like $200 was mailed directly to France for this purpose.

The Women's Auxiliary of American legion post No. 127 meets every other Monday night at American legion headquarters, 610 East Broadway, where they plan to carry out their aim of helping the American legion in any and all ways.

The members of the auxiliary are in charge of the country store being conducted this week at the carnival grounds, Orange and Harvard streets.

All money made at this concession will be given by the auxiliary towards swelling the American legion clubhouse fund.

Midnight Banditry Terrorizes Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 11.—Tales of a gang of midnight robbers, working on a country road south of this city, holding up autoists at the point of revolvers and threatening their victims with death if they report to the police, are being secretly disclosed by numerous parties to the local police department.

With the disclosure of a recent holdup, other cases were reported which had been withheld for many days. Rumors are being spread that victims are getting together to organize a searching party to explore the road at night to catch the bandits at their work. According to one of the victims, a large number have volunteered to join the searchers' band.

Police are working actively to run down the supposed midnight raiders, but so far have found no evidences of an organized band of highwaymen. They are inclined to discount some of the wild tales told, and declare that if the robbers had been working in such a manner the holdup victims would have reported, disregarding the threats of violence.

WIFE SLAYER IS HANGED

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Frank Ligregni was hanged in the county jail here for the murder of his wife. Ligregni shot and killed his wife, a school teacher, at Bartlett, Ill., on December 21, after she had refused to return to him. The hanging was the first afternoon execution in the history of Cook county.

SAYS DETHRONING MISTAKE

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"It was a mistake to dethrone the Hohenzollerns," Lord Phillimore declared, during a debate in the House of Lords, "because with a chastened emperor," he continued, "we would have a steadier Germany and a better chance of payment of her war debts."

JAPANESE PROBLEM IS DISCUSSED BY GOV. STEPHENS

No War Expected, so State's Chief Executive Asserts in Armistice Address

William D. Stephens, governor of the state of California, delivered an address today at San Diego at the ceremonies for Armistice Day. In opening his address the governor said:

"This great audience is gathered around this platform today because each one here has that sentiment and sense of gratitude within him that will forever pay honor to the memory of those valiant sons of the Republic, who in their young manhood, when all the glory of the days to come, all the brightness of the myriad stars in the heavens above, all the prospects of home, and wife and children, promised the fulfillment of their earthly aspirations, enlisted in freedom's cause, volunteered to go wherever country called to fight the arch enemy of the world.

They offered all they had, that home and mother and country might be made safe and secure from ruthless attack. They gave all that mortal man could give, including life itself, that freedom's banner should not be lowered to any foe. They went singing to the grave that all the world might hold up its head and cry aloud, 'I am free—I am free.'

Stand at Attention

"And now in answer to the appeal from the head of our Nation, let us stand at attention and with heads uncovered and in everlasting love and memory for our departed heroes, pray that such peace may come to this Republic and to all the world, as our sons fought for and died to win.

"Oh, God of Nations, speed the day when swords shall be beaten into plow shares, and spears into pruning hooks, when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall there be war any more."

The governor, during his address, spoke of the legislation for the former service men and also concerning the proposal to add $7,000,000 to the $3,000,000 already appropriated by the legislature. The former sum must be approved at the election in November, 1922.

Japanese Problem

The Japanese problem was also discussed by the governor. He said on this subject:

"The Japanese problem looms large in California and well it may, for it threatens not only our social arrangements, but our agricultural and industrial life as well. As congressman from California, I learned to know Washington's appraisal of our problem. Washington did not believe we had a problem. Washington thought our appeal only political bunk, put forth by California's political aspirants for Washington office. I knew its seriousness and therefore caused facts and data to be collected and sent to Washington at the proper time, to convince them that not only California but all America had a serious problem to solve. I went to Washington over a year ago, where I discussed this matter with the administration then in power, and then to Marion, Ohio, where I talked over this situation with those men who have since come into power.

"You have read in the speeches of all the candidates for president, the promises secured, and now I come to you asking you to help educate congress—for the president cannot do it all—and the east. Wherever you talk in the east—wherever you write to anyone there, speak of our great problem and how it affects California and will affect the nation.

No Thought of War

"Tell the truth. The question should be frankly discussed and always in a spirit of friendliness, for we are neighboring nations with national respect for each other. The United States has no thought of war and Japan is too great a nation with too much progress immediately back and in front of her people to think of war with a country so friendly and so just as ours, concerning a question which is one for the United States alone to determine. This is our land, not the land of the alien, and ours it must and will remain.

"The island of Japan is inhabited by a wonderful people with a past history that reaches back into the ages. The Japanese nation has made perhaps a more remarkable progress than ever made by nation before. From a weak nation it has grown in a short period of years to be a world power. Its accomplishments are many and its record one of which every Japanese citizen can be proud.

No More Immigration

"I cannot blame them if they cry aloud the glory of the Mikado and the prowess of their countrymen from every housetop—provided the house-tops are in Japan and not in America. I do not favor further immigration to the United States of people who cannot become citizens of the United States. I am unalterably opposed to a divided allegiance. One flag—our flag—the star spangled banner—is sufficient for a genuine and wholly loyal citizen of this republic."

The governor concluded his address with this plea:

"Fellow citizens, boost for California! Boost up, don't tear down. Whisper your criticisms, shout your praises, and the world will continue to make a Mecca of California."

LITTLE CHANGE

"I'm sorry to see you here," said the friend of a convicted bank embezzler.

"Oh, there isn't much change, after all," said the prisoner, cheerfully.

"No?"

"You see, I had been shut up in a cage and looking through bars for years before I came here. These bars are just a little thicker, and instead of being brass they are steel."

NUMEROUS AMUSING EXPERIENCES CAN EASILY BE RECALLED WHEN BUDDIES TALK ABOUT WORLD WAR

Howard McGillis, of The Glendale Evening News,
Who Went Across, Relates Tales and Admits
They Are True; Some Unexpected Events

Howard McGillis, who is now sporting editor of The Glendale Evening News, was with the United States forces overseas when the armistice was signed. All kinds of war stories have been told—true and otherwise. Mr. McGillis, in the following article, relates several amusing experiences, and he says they are true—he happened to be in the vicinity at the time, and, therefore, he is a credible witness. His story:

By HOWARD M'GILLIS

AS NOVEMBER 11 approaches each year the mind of every veteran who took part in the war of wars is invariably turned toward some instance or series of instances which were associated with the happenings on that memorable date in 1918, or with something which had just gone before. At the present time there comes to the mind of the writer a vivid recollection of a number of amusing, though serious at the time, manifestations of fear which were made on various occasions by fellow humans.

The word "human" is used advisedly in the foregoing paragraph as it is probably the simplest phraseology that can be used to correctly describe those who are willing to admit that they were actually scared on several occasions during their brief sojourn in "Sunny" France. Those who refuse to concede as much are just a wee bit "off" or are else nothing but plain prevaricators.

The following oft-repeated words of the dark colored buck private aptly describes the feelings of the average veteran: "When things starts a poppin' the jes' aint nothin else to do but get scared."

Probably one of the most comical and unexpected events that "we" had the good fortune to witness came one day during the latter part of October, 1918, while three of us were attempting to penetrate some ten feet of limestone for the purpose of building a dugout. By the time that the four foot level had been reached large beads of perspiration began to evidence themselves on the swarthy countenances of the trio of "muckers," making it necessary to remove helmets and gas masks and place them on the edge in easy reaching distance of the owners.

All Ready to Die.

No sooner had this been done, however, than the familiar sound of an approaching "whiz-bang" could be heard in its weirdly screeching cry of warning.

Picks were immediately discarded while the "muckers" lost no time leaping to the bottom of the unfinished "abri." As two of them jumped for one corner which seemed to be slightly deeper than the others, the one nearest the edge made a hurried clutch for his helmet. Missing it he huddled down beside his "buddy," apparently ready to die for his country.

Bang! Bang! They had both been struck in the head and they were evidently praying to be sent to the right place, when it slowly dawned upon them that one of the helmets had slipped from the side, and by a remarkable coincidence, had glanced from one of their heads to the other at the same time that the shell exploded several hundred yards away. Couldn't See It.

Another somewhat similar incident took place a few nights prior to this when a certain 200-pound second lieutenant received the rather inglorious title of "Dugout George." A German bomber had "dropped his tail gate" several hundred feet away from the company's billets, immediately after which the heavyweight "shave-tail" ordered everybody into the dugout.

After remaining in the water-soaked hold in the ground for a half hour several diplomatically inclined sergeants and corporals explained to the "louie" just why they should be on top of the earth taking it all in. But, as usual, the officer failed to agree and the heretofore talkative soldiers suddenly became still and noiseless.

It was well toward dawn when the lieutenant, in his self-imposed sense of duty, called to various enlisted men, only to find that all of them had quietly stolen out of the "abri" several hours before and had enjoyed the night sitting on a graveyard fence with a group of Salvation Army lassies. Throughout the entire night not an enemy shot had been fired in the vicinity, all of the excitement having been furnished by American artillery units, who were showing "Jerry" the time of his life.

WAS IT BRIBE FOR VOTES?

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 11.—A promise that if he were elected he would donate his entire salary to the community chest for the benefit of the poor, may cost George L. Oles, independent, his election as mayor. It was intimated in political circles here today. It is contended that the court will construe this as offering a bribe for votes.

The Unknown Soldier

By Angela Morgan

HE is known to the sun-white Majesties
Who stand at the gates of dawn;
He is known to the cloud-borne company
Whose souls but late have gone.
Like wind-flung stars through lattice bars
They throng to greet their own,
With voice of flame they sound his name
Who died to us unknown.

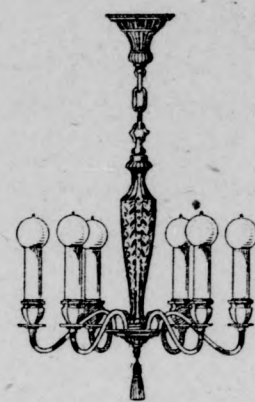

HE is hailed by the time-crowned brotherhood,
By the Dauntless of Marathon,
By Raymond, Godfrey and Lion Heart, Whose dreams he carried on.
His name they call through the heavenly hall,
Unheard by earthly ear.
He is claimed by the famed in Arcady
Who knew no title here.

OH faint was the lamp of Sirius,
And dim was the Milky Way.
Oh far was the floor of Paradise
From the soil where the soldier lay.
Oh chill and stark was the crimson dark
Where huddled men lay deep;
His comrades all denied his call—
Long had they lain asleep.

OH strange how the lamp of Sirius
Drops low to the dazzled eyes;
Oh strange how the steel-red battlefields
Are floors of Paradise.
Oh strange how the ground with never a sound Swings open, tier on tier,
And standing there in the shining air
Are the friends he cherished here.

THEY are known to the sun-shod sentinels
Who circle the morning's door.
They are led by a cloud-bright company
Through paths unseen before.
Like blossoms blown their souls have flown
Past war and reeking sod.
In the book unbound their names are found—
They are known in the courts of God!

MINISTER OF WEST GLENDALE METHODIST CHURCH TELLS OF EXPERIENCES ON ARMISTICE DAY

REV. H. G. PRESTON
UNDER SHELL FIRE

Many of Soldiers Hoped That Orders Would Be Issued to March to Berlin

REV. HARLEY G. PRESTON
Pastor of West Glendale Methodist church, who tells of experiences as sergeant in Sixth Division "over there" when armistice was announced.

"On the memorable day of November 11, 1918," remarked the Rev. Mr. Harley G. Preston, pastor of the West Glendale Methodist church, reminiscently speaking about his experiences in the army, "we got up early and were on our hike at 7:45 o'clock. We marched over marshes, through barbed wire entanglements, around shell holes, over trenches, through mud, on narrow roads, around ammunition trains, slipping, sliding, trudging along through the sunless, wet November weather of that part of 'Sunny France.'"

Rev. Preston was a sergeant in the Sixth Division, which was called the "Slight Seeing Sixth" because it covered so much territory in France. He has announced his intention of transferring his membership in the American Legion from Ventura Post, where he is chaplain, to Glendale.

"Though I did not get into the thick of the fight," declared Rev. Preston, "I had nevertheless some interesting experiences such as being shelled and bombed without being hit."

"We're Going Home!"

"We had been informed that the game might stop on this day and that we would know by 11 o'clock. By our watches we took notice at 11 o'clock the constant drum fire ceased with only an occasional shell exploding here and there. We felt pretty sure the armistice was signed. This opinion was confirmed a little later by the operator at a signal corps station."

"The boys immediately set up a cheer and yelled, 'We're going home!' But little did they think that they would be held over seas for months until Uncle Sam with Marshal Foch decided that the enemy would keep faith with the terms."

"Many of us felt that it would have been better to have gone on to Berlin and to have helped the Germans get things straightened out much the same as was done at the Rhine. There is little doubt but that Marshal Foch and the allied generals had things coming their way. It was reported that Marshal Foch wept when he received the armistice order from the supreme war council because it was unconditional surrender."

Wanted to Enter Berlin

"We heard that the German soldiers were received on their return to Berlin with great pomp and glory and that a bystander would have thought that they had won the war. None of us wanted to see the war prolonged, but in the name of civilization and democracy and of our buddies who had already fallen, we felt like saying to Germany: 'You have made us a lot of trouble and to make sure that you won't do it again soon we are going to Berlin and help you run things for a while and then, if you are good, we will turn it over to you with our best wishes."

"Of course, there is another side to this for, if that plan had been adopted and the Germans had fought, there would have been a loss of life. It is not thought that this would have been heavy east of the Rhine. After all, we were all glad that it was over as far as we personally were concerned."

"That night the front lines on both sides were lighted up as far as eye could reach with fireworks—all the flares and various signaling devices used in war were used in celebrating peace. It put in the shade any Fourth of July celebration I have ever seen and I have seen the country's best. It lasted for hours and was repeated again the next night."

Right on Captain's Foot!

"The boys got to shooting their rifles into the air. A ball from one of the cartridges lighted on a medical captain's foot. The colonel ordered the demonstration stopped and all the men to their pup tents on 'nature's green' which was somewhat damp from recent rains."

"While the danger from death and wounds in battle was over, there were yet many men who were looking fondly toward the homecoming who were not to get there; who, through exposure and hardship incident to the life of a soldier, were taken sick and dropped out of the ranks."

"As we count the white crosses in France and register the sorrows and heartaches of the world incident to the great war is it not true that, although willing to defend our country whenever necessary, there will go up to the God of Nations on this Armistice Day a prayer that the nations of the earth will find a better way of settling their disputes than by clash of arms and that they will clasp hands in the bond of international brotherhood—and then 'not forget the grip'?"

FROM BIBLE ON 'BOB' HAIR

ATHENS, Ga.—Asked his opinion of bobbed hair, Chancellor David C. Barrow, University of Georgia, read from the Bible, eleventh chapter, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth verses, First Corinthians, the following: "Judge in yourselves; it is comely that a woman pray unto God uncovered. Doth not even nature teach you that if a man hath long hair it is a shame unto him? But if a woman hath long hair it is given as a covering." The Chancellor added that Paul the Apostle, who wrote the foregoing, was an old bachelor.

TURN CHURCH INTO MILL

MARTINSBURG, W. Va.—The Interwoven Woolen Mills company, which operates a large knitting plant here, has purchased the old Presbyterian church at Harpers Ferry and has arranged to convert it into a branch factory. I. E. Wentzel has been appointed general manager of the new branch. It will employ fifty girls. The old church has been closed to worship for many years.

ROBBED OF $100 SCARFPIN

OLEAN, N. Y.—A leading business man of this city on a picnic recently captured a strange insect of immense size, having three sets of wings, resembling an airplane. Wishing to take it home, he removed his scarf-pin and pinned the insect to the ground, leaving it there while he looked for something in which to carry the bug. He was returning when he saw the insect rise and disappear with his scarf-pin, containing a diamond for which he recently paid $100.

GLENDALE MAN IN NAVY SERVICE TRAVELS 185,000 MILES, VISITS SEVENTEEN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

ENSIGN BRADBURY DOES CONVOY DUTY

Meets With Many Experiences
While in War; 11 Round Trips Across Atlantic

CLAUDE A. BRADBURY
Ensign, who has traveled 185,000 miles in naval and merchant marine service; now with his parents in Glendale.

By ART SHERBORNE
Marco Polo and Sinbad the sailor were "pikers" compared with Ensign Claude A. Bradbury.

After 185,000 miles of traveling in all parts of the world in naval and merchant marine service, he is now living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.
H. N. Bradbury, 429 Lincoln avenue, and admits that Glendale looks mighty good to him.

Mr. Bradbury won his commission as ensign.

Leaving South Pasadena in September, 1916, Mr. Bradbury went cast. Shortly after war was declared he enlisted in the navy at Detroit, spent six weeks at the Great Lakes Naval Training station and then was sent right to Philadelphia to go aboard the U. S. S. Huntington, which was the old West Virginia
when the fleet came around The Horn in 1908 and was doing convoy duty during the war.

After several round trips across the Atlantic, he was made a member of the gun crew on the S. S. Dayton, an oil carrier which helped supply the British Grand Fleet. His service attracted attention and he was allowed to attend an officers' training school at Harvard university for four months. Then he was commissioned as an officer.

Joins Merchant Marine

However, after a few months' service upon the Great Northern carrying troops to France before the Armistice and home afterwards, he decided that the naval life was all right—for the secretary of the navy.

He was honorably discharged from the navy in February, 1920, and at once joined the merchant marine.

During the war, he made a total of eleven round trips across the Atlantic. He has visited Italy, Gibrat-tar, the Azores, Havana, the Panama Canal, three times, Shanghai, Hongkong, Manila, and many other ports.
He quit the sea recently at Seattle.

One of the most imposing sights seen in all his travels, Mr. Bradbury said, was when he witnessed the whole British Grand Fleet, containing over 200 warships of all kinds and at least 125 destroyers, pass out of the Firth of Forth while he was on a ship about 200 yards away.
He said that the ships at anchor could be seen up the river as far as the eye could reach, and that when they started to come out it was as though a review were being staged for his benefit.

Most Spectacular Sight

One of the most spectacular sights,
Mr. Bradbury said, was the appearance of a flaming benzine tanker, torpedoed with a submarine missile meant for his own ship and which

New Device to Gauge Various Types Roads

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—An ingenious device, perfected by the Bureau of Public Roads, of the Department of Agriculture, will disclose what happens under a roadway as traffic passes over it, it was announced recently. This unique instrument was developed to ascertain what thickness of roadbed is required for light or heavy traffic on various kinds of soil.

The device measures, at desired distances, how the burden of traffic is distributed through the roadbed to the soil on which it rests.

When the facts have been fully obtained and the traffic burden on the nearby and underlying soil can be correctly measured, it is expected to prove of invaluable aid to road makers as to proper thickness of the roads they should construct on varying kinds of subsurface.

The tests are being conducted at the department's experimental farm
at Arlington, Va.

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It can not hurt you and it certainly ends the torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat
as red peppers.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Advertisement.

One of the first Indian wars in the history of early Kansas is said to have originated because an agent sold some Indians a piece of calico with the stripes running the wrong way.

JOHN W. LAWSON

The Man With a Vision

Eleven years ago when Glendale was a mere village of 2,500 people, John W. Lawson had the vision to see the future development of this city—and was at the head of the largest construction project of homes ever attempted in this community.

Today, while Glendale, a city of 22,000, is making the greatest strides in her history, John W. Lawson is among the foremost investors in business property and has started the erection of one of the largest business blocks in the city, consisting of five large store rooms and sixteen apartments.

So far-sighted has been his vision of future developments, that the residence sections that he laid out and constructed over ten years ago, are now located in the heart of Glendale and have increased in value many times over.

Business Block and Apartments Will Be Soon Constructed on West Side of Brand Boulevard, Between Wilson and California

Architect's drawing of two-story business block and apartments for John W. Lawson, being erected on the west side of Brand, between Wilson and California avenues. There will be five stores and sixteen apartments, it is proposed.

During the past few years Mr. Lawson has made a number of large investments in other sections of Southern California, and while still retaining property in other cities, is centering his time and money in Glendale, as he considers the FUTURE of Glendale unquestioned.

DESCRIBES FINAL SCENES WHEN 'BIG SHOW' OVER THERE REACHES END; BOY, THAT GLORIOUS FEELING!

Member of The Glendale Evening News Staff, Who Was Overseas, Tells of Experiences Three Years Ago; Rumors and Then, It's Here!

C. C. Clute, now a member of The Glendale Evening News staff, was "over there" when the armistice came three years ago today. He tells, in the following article, of the rumors along the western front concerning the armistice; about some of his experiences; of the experiences of others. And, finally, of the end of the hostilities; how the "big show" was over. Mr. Clute's story:

By C. C. CLUTE

THE hour of 11 o'clock a. m., which brought an end to hostilities along an irregular line in Europe three years ago today, was impressive throughout the world, but more so to those who were stationed on either side of the line at that minute. Millions of men with billions of dollars to back them, engaged in the most gigantic struggle of the ages, were halted after over four years of war.

Back in the states there were false alarms regarding an armistice prior to November 11 and rumors springing up in some incredible manner along the western front were current among the allied soldiers that Germany was ready to call it a day. Soldiers "going in" brought the word to those who were being relieved to the rear for a brief rest.

A rumor in the army is always questioned unless it comes from some veteran unit. Many new troops on the front in the Meuse-Argonne offensive from September 26 to November 11 gave eager credence to the rumors brought to them by veterans of the Chateau Thierry, the Somme and the St. Mihiel offensives, and one of the popular rumors which gained headway just before the big drive of September 26 was that German prisoners taken in the St. Mihiel battle stated they knew the attack was coming, but had not sufficient numbers to consider resisting.

"Read" Their Shirts
On October 10 doughboys of the First Division in that part of the Meuse-Argonne sector supported by the First Army Artillery on the right edge of the Forest de Argonne brought word that the armistice was a certainty. Two members of the 121st Machine Gun company with their backs resting against a ridge of earth that had been the foundation of a house a short distance south of Romagne, complacently "read" their shirts and discussed how soon they would be out of this man's army—while an Austrian 88 mm near the present site of the great American graveyard picked off at point blank range any one who dared show his head. The armistice would be signed tomorrow and there was no reason why members of the "suicide squad" could not plan on being home by Christmas—perhaps Thanksgiving if the "higher-ups" only got on the job.

That Tomorrow came, but it was just one month later and by that time

Housefly Wanders Around Quite a Bit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—That bothersome, obnoxious pest, the fly, is a tireless little traveler, according to experiments conducted by the Bureau of Entomology of the Department of Agriculture.

The tests showed that the house fly makes an average journey of five to six miles in the space of twenty-four hours. Upon being released after capture flies would travel as high as 1,000 feet in the air in a few minutes during the experiments.

The ease with which flies travel many miles, contends the Bureau of Entomology, shows the importance of general measures to destroy breeding places.

ties were inflicted. One commanding officer of an engineer unit reported that during the minute preceding 11 o'clock ten of his men were killed by an 88 mm shell.

It was war till 11 o'clock—war in all that Sherman claimed for it, and the roar of battle trebled during the last few minutes.

Finally came 11 o'clock—to the dot.

The roar subsided as the echo reverberated all along the line, and for a moment—seemingly an hour—all was silent. And that silence was too profound for comprehension. An end had come to over four years of war, and to those who heard the echo of the last shot die away the moment was impressive beyond description. Historians and poets may write of it for all time, but they will fail to express the feeling that arose in a million or more breasts along the line at that hour. The doughboy puts it most aptly with his three simple words: "I was there."

Then Mr. German Shows

Gradually heads appeared out of "fox holes" as the Yanks peered over the landscape toward Germany; farther back behind the lines the artillery "guys" leaned against the wheels of their pieces and gazed to the north, wondering what to do next; overhead the airplanes kept up their patrol.

And then out of his shelter came Heinie. He walked with impunity across that stretch of ground that a few minutes before would have meant instant death. He came across to the American line to trade helmets for Bull Durham and soap; he needed both, particularly the latter. But orders were there should be no fraternizing,—and in a few instances Heinie had to carry his helmets back. To those who for weeks had had to crawl and dig in and keep out of sight trying to dodge death in the form of bullets, shrapnel and gas the privilege of standing up and surveying the country gradually asserted itself. A lank doughboy stood up, stretched, took a hitch in his belt and was himself again. He gazed over toward where Heinie had recently tried to pick him off; then he gazed back in the general direction where he had heard of the mythical base of supplies.

"Well, the show's over—when-in-ell do we eat?"

Heavy Fire Continues
The Americans redoubled efforts that forenoon in adding to the battle. Everything from rifle and machine gun bullets to shrapnel from light and heavy artillery was hurled across No Man's Land. The enemy retaliated in a like manner with the result that during the last quarter hour of the war thousands of casual-

Navy Buys Historic Yacht America for $1

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The United States navy has just bought one of the most famous boats in the world. It cost the Government $1.

The historic yacht America, first winner of the cup from England, is now a navy ship. Through the generous co-operation of patriotic men, including Secretary of War Weeks, the old yacht has been rescued from her old berth at Boston, where she rested for years, reconditioned, and towed down the coast by a sub-chaser to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Here she was presented to the Navy by Charles Francis Adams, skipper of the Resolute, on behalf of the Eastern Yacht club of Boston. Rear-Admiral Henry B. Wilson officially received the boat for the Navy. The trip was made under the command of William U. Swan.

The plan originally was to present the boat to the Navy. The Navy, however, is not allowed to receive a gift, accordingly the department purchased the boat by paying $1.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

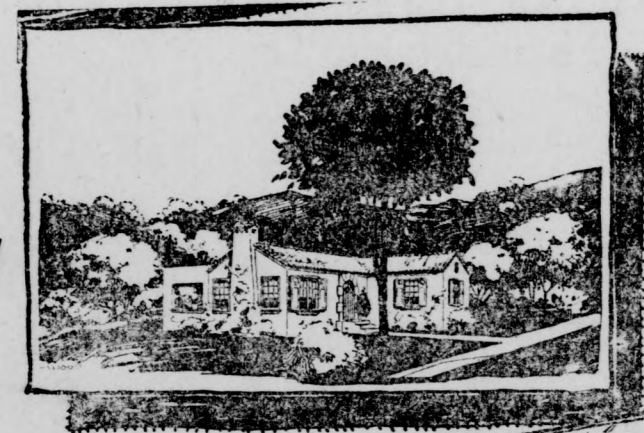

The kidneys do their utmost to "free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Advertisement.

ARMISTICE DAY '21

THREE years of peace have passed—three years of reconstruction. Surely, we as a nation, have much to be thankful for—much to console ourselves that our plight is not greater or our burden more wearisome.

Peace on earth has been finally established. So let us offer cheer to the sorrowful, bounty to the needy, and balm to the stricken. In this spirit let us celebrate this Armistice Day Anniversary.

And let us hope that the conclusions of the Disarmament conference, called by President Harding, will pave the way to the eradication of war and that all its accompanying scourges will be effaced from this earth; that the term "brotherhood of man" will bear a more definite meaning than mere words.

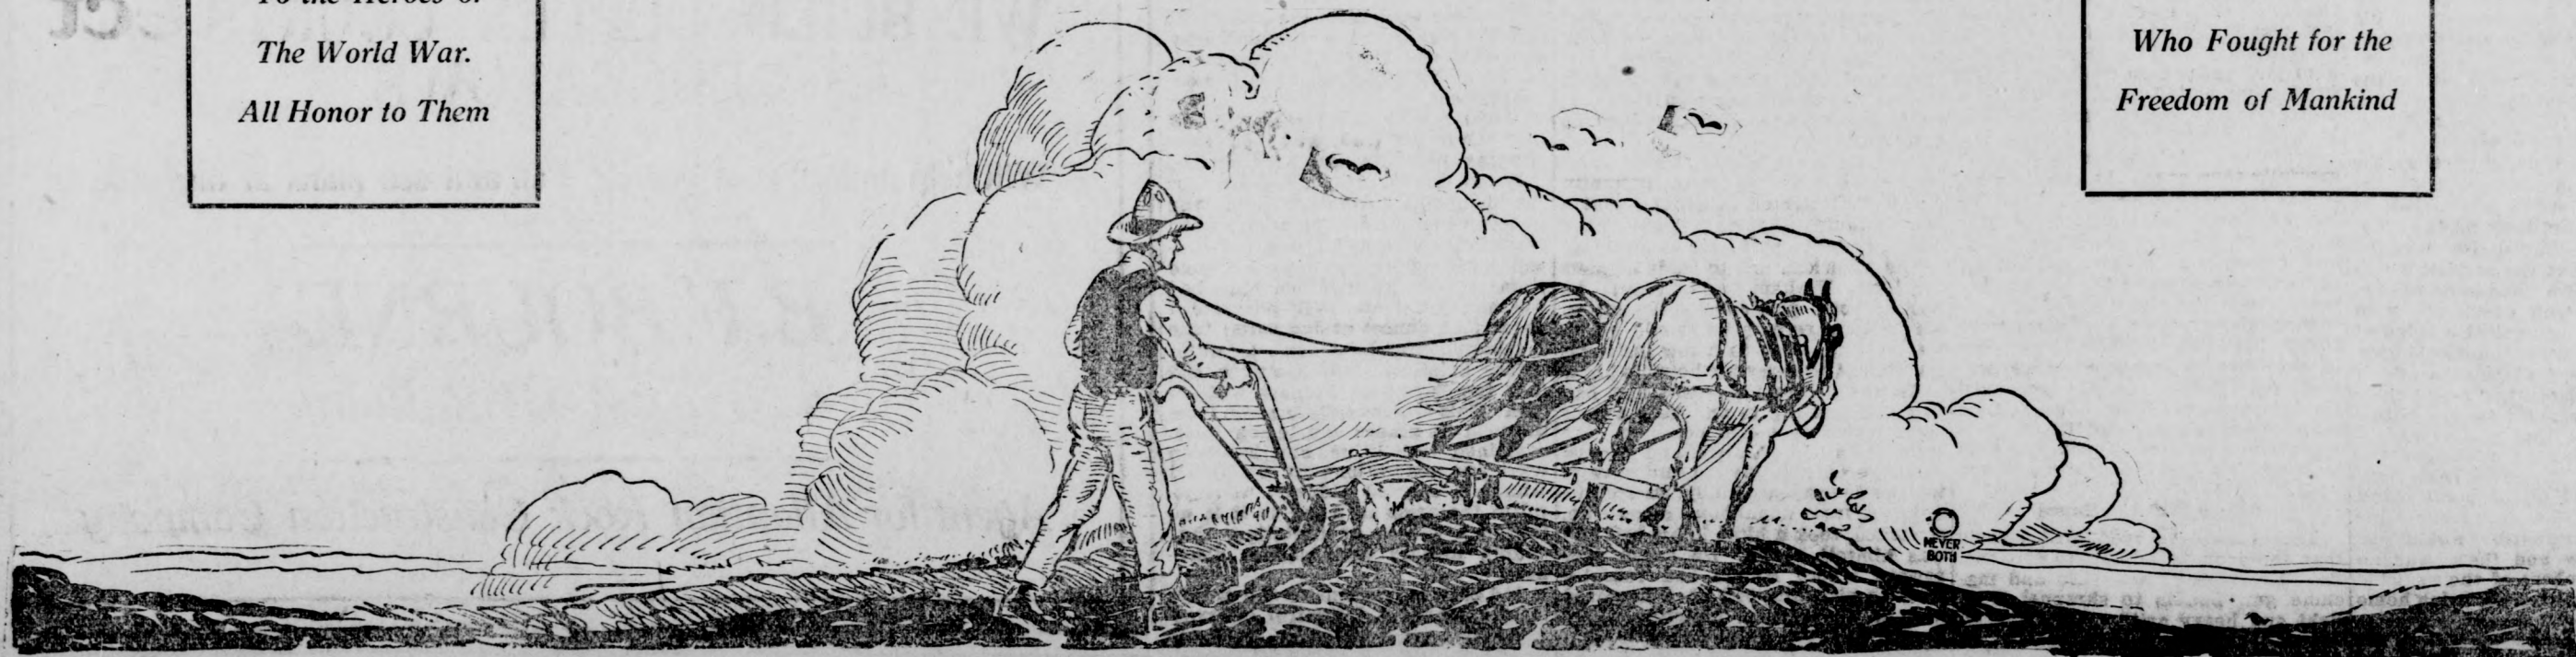

Let us make this day a day worth remembering, as sacred and memorable as our natal day—the Fourth of July.

And let us rejoice that November brings forth two great days of thanksgiving—Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

SOME OF LEADING DELEGATES TO GREAT CONFERENCE ON ARMAMENT LIMITATION TO BE HELD IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

The world's greatest statesmen, military and naval leaders have been delegated to sit around the council table in Washington to discuss limita- tion of armament, reduction of armies and navies of the future and the unsettled questions of the Pacific and the Far East. All save David Lloyd George, Great Britain's Prime Minister, were ready to take part in the conference as it opened. Lloyd George, detained at home by politi- cal duties, expected to join the conference in due time.

In the above group are Charles Evans Hughes, Secretary of State of the United States; David Lloyd George, Prime Minister of England; Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, President of the House of Peers of Japan; M. Aristide Briand, Prime Minister of France; V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to Great Britain; Gen- eral Armando Diaz, Commander of the Italian Armies, and Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, Belgian Am- bassador to the United States.

'NO SECRET AGREEMENT'
LONDON, Nov. 11.—"There is no unpublished treaty, agreement or al- lance which would affect the deci- sion of the British delegates at the Washington conference," Premier Lloyd George told the House of Com- mons. He had been questioned as to whether Great Britain had any secret treaty that might hamper or limit the nation's action relative to limitation of armaments.

the peace of the world. People used to think that heavy armaments were a protection. Arms and bayonets pointed at each other's throats do not insure peace; they arouse sus- picions that lead to war. If all the world is prepared for war there will be war. And when some nations are armed others are afraid, and for pro- tection arm themselves.

Ready to Start Fight
"If every nation has a superb en- gine of war, well geared up, some one will start one of them going and then all will start. Men have recom- mended armed peace. What is that? It is the policy that Europe followed this last century. Billions of money were spent and millions of men were highly trained. This was done to safeguard Europe. The people were called upon to make great sacrifices to do this. Europe prepared for war and she got what she prepared for. Europe made gigantic preparations and she got a gigantic war. This last war proved one thing clearly: that armed peace leads to war. Charles Jefferson says that the war shot to pieces many things, but there were two things that were specially shot to pieces and torn to shreds; and these were the adage, 'In times of peace prepare for war' and the delu- sion, 'Armaments are a guarantee of peace.' Our government has seen the folly of this and has called a con- ference of the nations to correct the mistake. We say that Germany made a mistake the last fifty years. Then, why should we repeat the mistake?"

War does not settle difficulties. It makes more difficulties.
We made great sacrifices for war. Can we not make a few sacrifices for peace?

Here's a resume of Rev. Calderwood's sermon to the former service men:

"You went into war to end war. You fought for peace. Our govern- ment wants peace. The millions of the world's people want peace. Then why do we not have peace? It is because certain people are greedy, selfish and unbrotherly, not because they are blood-thirsty. We have made great sacrifices to prepare for war. When we are willing to make some sacrifices for peace we will have peace."

Old Method Has Failed
"The old method for obtaining world peace has failed. The world was told that certain methods of procedure would operate for peace. The world took that advice. The world obeyed the commands of the war lords and now the world is starv- ing, suffering, bleeding and bank- rupt."

"The world is starting to repeat the mistake of the last century. There is a race in organizing and maintain- ing armies, in building great navies and in creating other superb engines of destruction."

"We are pleased that our govern- ment sees the mistake and recognizes the danger of this and so hopes to lead the nations out of threatening wars to a lasting peace. To this end, our president has called a conference of the nations for the purpose of dis- cussing the problems that confront the nations and to formulate agree- ments on a program of the limitation of armaments."

"In the government's official in- vitation to the conference we find this statement: 'The rivalries of arma- ments are not only without economic justification but are a constant men- ace to the peace of the world.'"

No Economic Justification
"It is true that the rivalries of arma- ments are without economic jus- tification. The leading nations spent $16,000,000,000 on war purposes this year when millions are crying for bread. This is without economic justification. Ninety-three per cent of the expenditures of our own gov- ernment was for war. We are not justified either economically or mor- ally in spending $40,000,000 for one battleship when that amount would keep 1,000,000 starving people alive for a year. In a few years these bat- tleships will be thrown onto the junk heap and the money spent for them would have saved eternal lives. This year the United States has spent $1,422,000,000 on armies and navies alone. Herbert Hoover says that this is inconceivable folly when people are starving. We cannot afford this expenditure and much less can other nations afford it."

"It is true, too, that rivalries in armaments are a constant menace to the peace of the world. People used to think that heavy armaments were a protection. Arms and bayonets pointed at each other's throats do not insure peace; they arouse sus- picions that lead to war. If all the world is prepared for war there will be war. And when some nations are armed others are afraid, and for pro- tection arm themselves."

PRESIDENT HARDING PAYS TRIBUTE TO UNKNOWN HERO

Hopes No Further Sacrifices
Will Have to Be Made;
Security of Peace

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—President Warren Harding, as the chief executive of the United States, today at Arlington cemetery paid tribute to an unknown soldier, an American, who gave his life "over there." During the course of his talk the president said:

"We are met today to pay the impersonal tribute. The name of him whose body lies before us took flight with his imperishable soul. We know not whence he came, but only that death marks him with the everlasting glory of an American dying for his country."

"He might have come from any one of millions of American homes. Some mother gave him in love and tenderness and with him her most cherished hopes. Hundreds of mothers are wondering today, finding a touch of solace in the possibility that the nation bows in grief over the body of one she bore to live and die, if need be, for the republic. If we give rein to fancy, a score of sympathetic chords are touched, for in this body there once glowed the soul of an American, with the aspirations and ambitions of a citizen who cherished life and its opportunities. He may have been a native or an adopted son; that matters little, because they glorified the same loyalty; they sacrificed alike."

In Heart of Nation.

"Sleeping in these hallowed grounds are thousands of Americans who have given their blood for the baptism of freedom and its maintenance, armed exponents of the nation's conscience. It is better and nobler for their deeds. Burial here is rather more than a sign of the government's favor; it is a suggestion of a tomb in the heart of a nation, sorrowing for its noble dead."

"Today's ceremonies proclaim that the hero unknown is not honored. We gather him to the nation's breast, within the shadow of the capitol, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the republic worthy of his death for flag and country."

"Ours are lofty resolutions today as with tribute to the dead we consecrate ourselves to a better order for the living. With all my heart, I wish we might say to the defenders who survive, to mothers who sorrow, to widows and children who mourn, that no such sacrifice shall be asked again."

Loves Justice, Hates War

"I speak not as a pacifist fearing war, but as one who loves justice and hates war. I speak as one who believes the highest function of government is to give its citizens the security of peace, the opportunity to achieve and the pursuit of happiness."

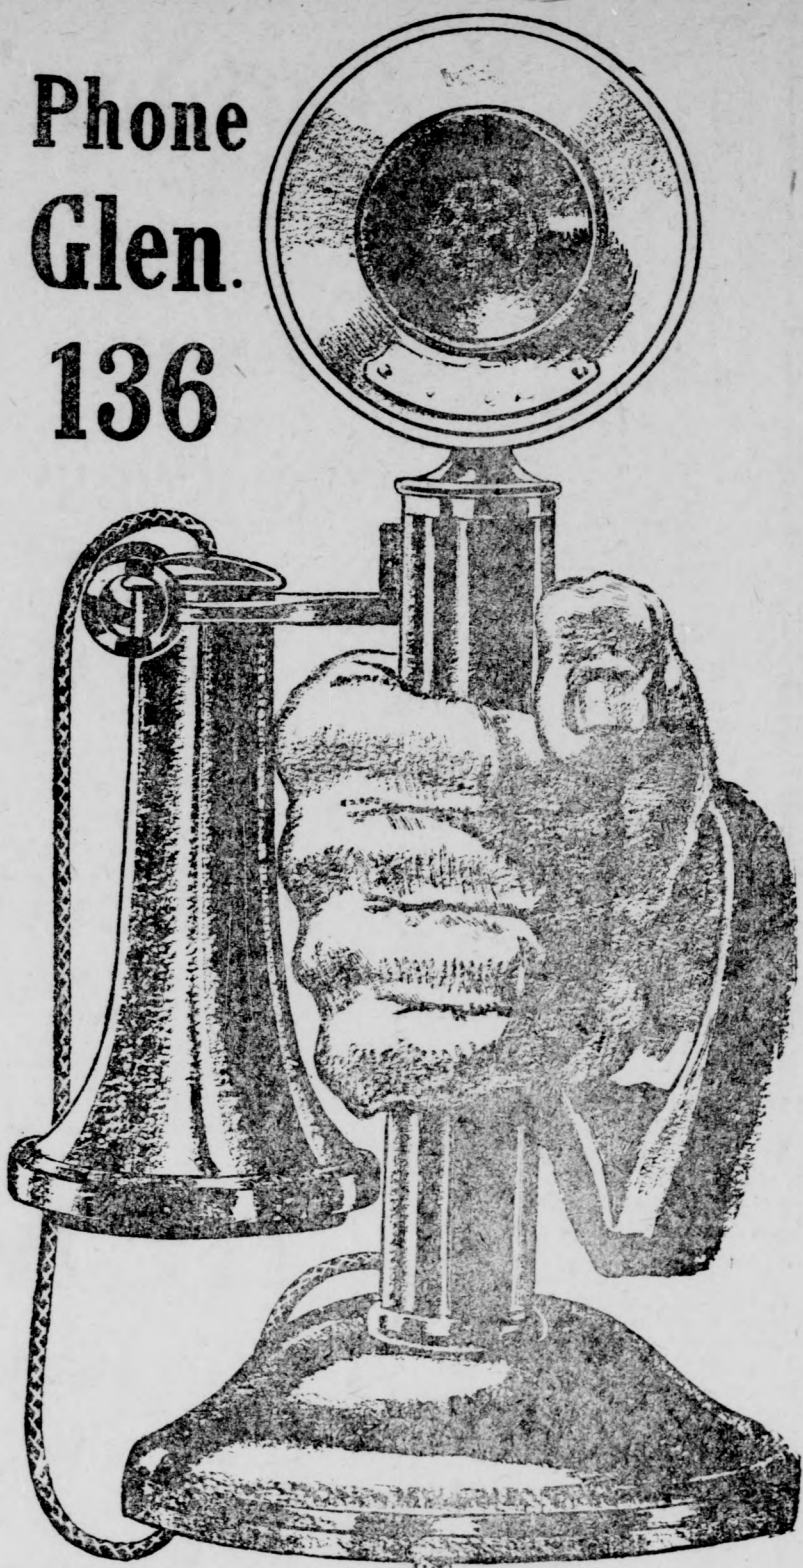

"The loftiest tribute we can bestow today—the heroically earned tribute—fashioned in deliberate conviction, out of unclouded thought, neither shadowed by remorse nor made vain by fancies, is the commitment of this republic to an advancement never made before. If American achievement is a cherished pride at home, if our unselfishness among nations is all we wish it to be and ours is a helpful example in the world, then let us give of our influence and strength, yea, of our aspirations and convictions, to put mankind on a little higher plane, exulting and exalting, with war's distressing and depressing tragedies barred from the stage of righteous civilization."

BRIAND TO DEFEND FRENCH POLICIES AT GATHERING

France's Premier Will Show
Army Smaller Now Than Before World War

PARIS, Nov. 11.—When the question of territorial disarmament comes up for discussion at Washington Premier Briand will be ready to face critics of his policy and of his country's "militaristic" activities. He will show that France, despite the ever-dangerous menace which shadows her eastern frontier and despite the unratification of the League of Nations, today has an army even smaller than before the war.

Marshal Foch and General Buat will be at Washington to corroborate the Premier's statement, for they, with the French General Staff, violently protested against and reduction of the French army until such time as it was felt sure that no danger could come from Germany and that the latter had completely disarmed and taken on a peace-like attitude.

Could Mobilize Million

As it is today the French General Staff and the Interallied War Council have reports which show that in Germany's "peace" army there is a large percentage of noncommissioned officers of the old army who are serving as privates, whereas officers willingly serve as noncommissioned officers. Furthermore, secret reports show that Germany could easily mobilize an army of close on a million of men, thanks to "schools of preparatory militarism," in a little over a week. France, meanwhile, to "show her peaceful intentions," has reduced her army to less than 500,000 officers and men. In May of this year the French army totalled 800,000, and further cuts are still contemplated by granting long leave to both officers and men. The forces on the Rhine have been reduced to a minimum, and the 1919 class, called up in May in view of the occupation of the Ruhr, which was then contemplated, was demobilized in August. France's armies in Northern Africa and in Asia Minor have likewise been reduced to a minimum.

Just a little less than a year ago, or on November 22, 1920, the people of Glendale paid the last sad tribute to Lieutenant Lester Meyer, who was killed in France while in the air service.

No Fear of Naval Power.

Not only are further cuts in the army's effective forces, but important slashes are to be made in the country's army and navy budgets, not only with a view to economize the nation's money, but also to prove to the world that France has no "arrière pensees" when she states that a danger from Germany does really exist.

As regards France's naval forces it will be easy for Admiral de Bon, commander of the French Fleet during the war, to show that no country need ever fear his country's naval power. Not only is the fleet at present one of the least powerful in the world, but construction of new ships has been completely abandoned for the time being, and the only serviceable ships France has, apart from one or two dreadnaughts and cruisers of the war, are German ships handed over according to the Versailles Treaty.

JURIES ARE STRICT ON PROHIBITION CASES, CLAIM

More Convictions Now Being Obtained, Is Statement of Commissioner Haynes

By W. H. ATKINS
Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—The attitude of juries toward Volstead law violators tends toward the infliction of more severe penalties and convictions are becoming more general, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes said.

Commissioner Haynes presented a digest of the opinions of state prohibition directors to back up his assertions. Excerpts from the reports of directors were:

"Missouri—Attitude of juries is all that can be reasonably expected. Only a few instances where juries fail to convict where evidence substantiates.

"Nebraska—Attitude of juries uniformly good. The day is not far off when convictions in any court can be expected when evidence is sufficient.

"Illinois—So far as federal courts are concerned, when cases are presented for trial, juries invariably bring in verdicts of guilty.

"Oklahoma—Attitude of juries beyond complaint.

"Oregon—Heavier fines and jail sentences in practically all dry law cases.

"Arkansas—No trouble in securing convictions in liquor law cases.

"Texas—Juries in sympathy with Volstead act as much as any state in the union.

"Arizona—Juries in federal and state courts becoming more responsive to public sentiment.

"Like Other Violators
"Wisconsin—Juries are now treating dry law violators as they are all other law breakers. In some instances juries with former saloonkeepers sitting on them, returned verdicts of guilty."

Commissioner Haynes said that because of rigid enforcement violations of law generally have shown a big decrease. He said the following workhouses have been closed: Columbus, O.; Wausau, Wis.; Fond Du Lac, Wis.; Peoria, Ill.; Rockport, Mo.

Jails have recently been closed in six cities, Mr. Haynes declared.

IN TRIBUTE

We pause today to pay honor to the memory of those valiant sons of the Republic who enlisted in Freedom's cause. They offered all they had for home, mother and country.

"A great pride is ours—pride and an undying love, that from our shores sprang forth a host of torch-bearers; an army of God; great towering cities shall be their monument; the children unborn shall breathe their names in love; the very breath of God shall bless them; in the shade of Belleau Wood, where sleep our dead."

This Is Armistice Day

This is the third anniversary of the close of the greatest war the world ever witnessed. May the day be sped "when swords shall be beaten into plough shares, and spears into pruning hooks, when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall there be wars any more."

"It's the laughter of the children that Old Glory guarantees;
It's the safety of our women on the land and on the seas;
It's the little homes we're building and the peace that evening brings
That the flag above is shielding, and a thousand other things."

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Followers of the ring in this neck of the woods are wondering what is underneath the surface of all the talk and counter talk that persists to the effect that Benny Leonard, the lightweight boxing champion of the world, will shortly fight his last ring contest, only to have the same contradicted in the next breath. That there is some kind of propaganda hidden away is the consensus of opinion. Also, it is believed that Leonard and his manager have something to do with it.

It is well known that Leonard has amassed a sufficient fortune since he became a champion to retire from the ring and to live comfortably the rest of his days. It also is the belief that Benny has tired of the game and is not as keen for it as he was in the days when he was aspiring to reach the top of the ladder. This, of course, is regarded as only natural. There is no reason why he should continue the grind and drudgery of training when he is so fixed that he doesn't have to do it. Men work and slave for the purpose of making money to enjoy life. Benny has reached the latter stage.

Whether or not this is propaganda for the purpose of paving the way for Benny to retire from the ring without any further battles remains to be seen. There are many who think that the champion entertains ambitions of getting out of the game as one of the few men who retired in possession of the crown undefeated.

It will be recalled that Leonard has, in recent months, called off a number of his battles because he declared he was not in shape, for one reason or another, to enter the ring. As a result the opinion prevails that Benny is not all that could be desired from a physical point of view and that he fully realizes this condition of affairs. If this is the case, it is evidence of his level headedness to admit the fact to himself and to take no chances of marring a record which, at the present time, places him on the list of the best lightweights who ever held the title.

Neither Manager Gibson or Leonard ever have come out flat footed and made any announcement of what is in their minds and they doubtless have some purpose in pursuing this course of action, and permitting the fans to go on with their guessing. However, it would seem that this uncertainty cannot continue for a much longer period and it would surprise no one if a statement was made sooner or later. Just how soon or how late no one pretends to know.

There is no question that Leonard is a popular title holder, but eventually he must take his public into his confidence as to his plans. He owes this to those who have so substantially contributed to his present financial prosperity.

THIS WAS EDDIE GALL

There are twenty-eight languages spoken in Chicago, not counting golf and baseball. The policemen understand all of them. A nice old lady, who seemed very little and very much lost, blocked the traffic on State and Madison streets the other day and poured her troubles into the sympathetic ear of the crossing cop.

"Vare is der light house, please," she inquired.

"Want to pay your gas bill, lady?" said the understanding officer.

"Jas," she smiled.

"Michigan avenue at Adams street, two blocks south, and two blocks east," he said, indicating the way and placing her safely on the curb.

"Gee, but you're a wonder," said the gas man who happened to be a bystander.

"Easy," said the cop. "The corner of her gas bill was sticking out of her bag," and he plunged back into the traffic for more problems to solve.

Rector Uses Light System to Sway Folk in His Congregation; Tells How Color Effects Have Deep Influence on Minds

Rev. Norman W. Guthrie.

By MARGERY REX.
Written for International News Service
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—In a very old church its modern rector, a protagonist of the beautiful, is making use of an interesting device for the stimulation of certain moods in his audience.

Down at old St. Mark's-in-the-Bow-erie, ancient edifice that has stood since 1795 staunchly amid the changes of time, the Rev. Norman William Guthrie, rector of that place of worship, explained the purposes and uses of a novel lighting system recently installed there.

The colors of the spectrum are being used to produce emotional states in those who come to pray and to listen.

From the old vaulted ceiling hang huge lanterns, which cast ever-changing colors upon the audience. From a high point over the altar—where is placed a new altar plaque or reredos in high relief, the work of Chester Beach, the sculptor—shines down a stream of pure white light. And again, when the rector mounts his pulpit, light is concentrated on this spot, cast from devices in the balcony.

Rainbow shades over religious services! How strange and new it sounds! But, upon consideration, is it as radical and unheard-of a step as one might think?

Inducing Meditation

Dr. Guthrie declares it is quite the opposite; that it is an ancient and reputable means of inducing meditation, austere contemplation and fervor.

"There are two reasons for this apparent innovation," he said.

We walked through the church, half dim at noonday. Workmen were busy all about; at the altar, where the new plaque by Beach has been installed, applying gold leaf and looking over the new lighting apparatus. Although daylight conflicted somewhat with the effect of the electric lights, still it was possible to see just what changes would take place when various colors were sent out from the huge hanging lamps.

"Our first reason," continued the rector, "is a psychological one. It is a fact that the earliest emotional reaction a child experiences is brought on by color. Primitive, deep down in the system there is that earliest of all responses.

"Try a child with colors—blue, purple, rose or gold—and you will find a fundamental feeling for these hues. Objects, friends or foes—these do not matter to a child who reaches out toward colors.

"Now we come to the effects of light. It cheers or depresses, or it may excite or bring peace.

"Since light produces moods it is, therefore, my object to bring all people together in one certain mood for the reception of moral and religious power.

It would be foolish not to avail ourselves of this modern means of arousing and supporting our religious emotions."

Sunlight and Moonlight Tones

Someone had turned on the lights that now were letting down cool green and blue rays. The effect was peaceful and rather austere.

"Our object is to saturate, to swamp the atmosphere with what I call 'moodal' tones," said Dr. Guthrie. "There is to be merely the suggestion of mood and not the lighting up of objects as such. This blue and green effect brings a feeling of moonlight over the congregation."

The light had changed. A mellow glow spread over the interior. Crimson, amber, then violet lights were diffused through the lamps above.

"These warmer hues produce a feeling of sunlight," Dr. Guthrie said. "The sun was worshipped in early religions; in fact, by all the Aryan races, not alone the Persians, as we are so apt to believe. The dawn was worshipped, too, and the sunset regarded as the place of the departed.

"We are only in the experimental stage. We have a fine apparatus, which we scarcely know how to use properly yet.

"But in our church it must be used reverently and temperately. The entire effect must be reserved, and it would create a too intense atmosphere, and our experiments would thus defeat our purposes.

"All the lights are turned on and out gradually. All consciousness is slowly let go in a quiet abandonment, to envisage the glorious. The congregation reads its hymns by daylight or strong white light. Then this is turned off, and during the address the moonlight or cool colors are switched on the audience and a stronger light over the pulpit."

Wrestling, Boxing Show Tonight; Given on Carnival Grounds

"All fixed and rarin' to go," was the statement made by Johnny Myers, local boxer and chairman of the arrangements committee for tonight's American legion wrestling and boxing show, when interviewed this morning. The best fight card that has ever been given in Glendale is on tap for the 2000 fans and fanettes who will gather in the big circus tent tonight, the curtain raiser to take place at 9 o'clock.

The headliner of the all-star entertainment will be none other than a finish wrestling match of one fall between Young Hackenschmidt of this city and "Big Abe" Metzetti of Hollywood. Both of the principals are groomed "to the gills" and a regular tussle is expected to take place when the two huskies face each other on the mat.

The evening's entertainment will open with a four-round set-to between Kid Essex of Glendale and Battling Billie Eubank of Burbank. Following this little affair the bugs will be treated to what promises to be the prize package of the evening when Ralph Myers, the local idol, will attempt to flatten the anatomy of one Howard Kendig of Burbank, who has ideas of his own regarding the outcome of the battle. This sterling pair of two fisted artists have already met on several occasions, each having a large following of backers.

The last bout on the bill will be a four-round squabble between Johnny Myers and Battling Jack Moore, the latter hailing from Los Angeles.

Wayne Yarick Shot, Victim of Accident

Wayne Yarick, age 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Yarick of 347 West Wilson avenue, is lying in the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital in a precarious condition as the result of being shot with a .22 calibre rifle. Some mystery surrounds the shooting which occurred at the Los Angeles river bed yesterday afternoon.

Waldo Forrester of 421 West Wilson avenue, who was with young Yarick, had the presence of mind to call a motorist from San Fernando road and have his friend removed to the office of Dr. G. Kaemmerling. Later the boy was removed to the hospital where the punctured abdomen was sewed up. Mrs. Yarick was in Anaheim at the time of the accident.

It is said that a boy in another party picked up the gun which he did not know was loaded, pointed it at Wayne and pulled the trigger in play.

Your independence might look like impudence to your neighbor.

MAN OF PEACE SAYS 'FORCE OTHERS TO DISARMAMENT'

 Noted Engineer States This Nation Has Full Power to Decide on Action

 By ALLAN N. BENSON
Written for International News Service
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.

 SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 11.—
"If necessary," said Dr. Charles P.
Steinmetz to me in his laboratory, "I believe the American government should notify the other powers that they must stand for disarmament or we will build a navy so great that it will bankrupt them to keep within sight of us."

 Dr. Steinmetz is a man of peace, but he would have disarmament or run the rest of the world ragged, even if we should become somewhat trayed ourselves.

 "We are the richest nation in the world," he added, "and would not suffer as much as the others would."

 Dr. Steinmetz, consulting engineer of the General Electric company, and barring Edison, perhaps the world's greatest student of electricity, is a short little man who smokes long cigars and always talks with one between his teeth. He led me back to his workshop and bade me sit in his own chair at a big flat-topped desk.
Then he leaned against the other side of his desk, resting his elbow on the top, lit a long cigar and began to talk about the Washington conference to limit armament.

Objects to Secrecy

 "I do not believe the conference will amount to much," he said. "I lost most of my interest in it when it was decided that the sessions should be held behind closed doors.
Just enough will be done to make the people think something has been accomplished and that will be all.
Moreover, the right kind of men are not coming to the conference. Most of them are diplomats. Diplomats are incapable of solving problems that require courage. No diplomat could have written the Declaration of Independence."

 "A diplomat is always looking for difficulties—and yielding to them.
When these gentlemen take up the problem of armaments, they will discover nothing that ought to be done is feasible."

 "It is not that they are necessarily insincere. I have no doubt that President Harding was sincere in calling the conference. But sincerely is not enough. Courage is necessary.
I don't believe these gentlemen have the courage to bring about disarmament."

 The long cigar was getting shorter and the little man who is a great economic student as well as a great inventor was all animation as he warmed up to his subject.

 Question of Disarmament
"It is all a question of disarmament," he continued, "or world-wide industrial collapse, ending in social revolution—I make a distinction between social evolution and social revolution."

 "Social evolution saves the best of what the ages have produced and builds upon it. Social revolution destroys everything. No greater calamity could be contemplated."

 "And what I am afraid of is social revolution. Industry cannot revive throughout the world so long as this crushing burden of armaments remains. I am not afraid that this civilization will be destroyed by another world war—at least not in our generation. I do not believe there is a government on earth that would dare try to hurl its people into another great war just now. But our present industrial system can be destroyed by other means than war and it will be destroyed if great armaments be permitted to continue, by chronic hard times that will steadily become worse."

 White Race Disappears
"Moreover, with the disappearance of our industrial edifice in this manner will come the disappearance of the white race as a ruling factor in civilization. In fact, I am not sure that the white race did not commit suicide in waging the world war.
Europe is practically destroyed now.
European industry is not reviving.
Europe now is wide open to any sort of invasion that Asiatic races might care to make. The great barriers that Charlemagne created against the Asiatics have been destroyed, and in place of Austria are a number of little states that amount to nothing.
The white race had better look out.
If it is wise it will not keep armament competitions going on until all Asia becomes armed. If Europe should go down before the Orientals, the United States would have difficulty in standing up."

FERRYBOAT IN COLLISION

 SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—One hundred and sixty passengers on the Northwestern Pacific steamer Sausalito escaped injury when the big ferryboat was rammed amidship in a dense fog off Pier 25 by a Western Pacific barge. The ferryboat continued on her way to Sausalito.
There an examination developed that she was only slightly damaged and she continued on her regular run.
There were a number of women and children aboard and fright prevailed for a few minutes. Slow speed of both vessels prevented a serious accident.

 Several kinds of insects were eaten
by the ancient Hebrews, Greeks and Romans. Fabre, the French entomologist, once tried a dish of cooked cicadas, but found them unpalatable.

 It is estimated that there are 3,000,000 lepers in the world, of whom 2,000,000 are in China.

Co-operation Shown By Local Merchants In Full Page Ad

 Elsewhere in this issue of the Glendale Evening News will be found an excellent example of a new type of co-operative advertisement that is gaining favor with leading advertisers throughout the country. Reference is made to the full page Oil is being published today by Neale &

Glegg Hardware company, Glendale
Hardware company, Cornwell & Kel-ty, Glendale Furniture Store and William P. Murphy, furniture, leading dealers in oil heaters in Glendale and vicinity.

 California, throughout the country,
has long been recognized as a leader in co-operative movements, which from the economic standpoint, are proving so satisfactory with marketing, purchasing, advertising and selling organizations throughout the country.

 The enterprising merchants responsible for this advertisement are to be complimented upon their progressive spirit in this connection.
These merchants have stocked oil heaters of the more popular lines and these are being shown this week in attractively arranged window and storefront displays.

 Prospective purchasers of oil heaters are requested to call and inspect the line of oil heaters being shown and procure their copy of a booklet entitled "Suggestions on the Operation of Oil Stoves, Heaters and Lamps," which is free for the asking.

owned the property in which Brown's store was located at Mission Road in Los Angeles. The Browns thought they would like to live in Glendale.
It was so ordered.

 Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock
the house movers started them north and west on the San Fernando Road.
At 3:30 Sunday morning they were
"at home" in Glendale. Monday morning their store was operating as usual. That's the speed one finds in Glendale.

WOMEN'S UNION SESSION

 An all-day meeting of the Women's Union of the Baptist church, of which Mrs. E. E. Ford is president, was held yesterday at the church. The morning was devoted to sewing for the missions in Los Angeles. After a delicious lunch at noon a program was given, including a skit, "The Elixir of Life" by Mrs.
P. L. Hatch and Mrs. Roy Kent. Mrs.
E. D. Yard, president of the Glendale Welfare Council, gave a very interesting talk on the work and needs of that organization. There were about fifty members present.

 It is plain that there are books which are not fit subjects for criticism, which do not rise into the field of artistic being, quite irrespective of the number of editions through which they have passed.—Jules Le-maître.
